CLING TO THOSE WHO CLING TO YOU.

There are many friends of Summer. Who are kind when flowers bloom, But when Winter chills the blossom. They depart with the perfume. On the broad highway of action Friends of worth are far and few; So when one has proved his friendship, Cling to him who clings to you. Do not harshly judge your neighbor, Do not deem his life untrue. If he makes no great pretensions, Deeds are great though words are few; Those who stand amid the tempest Firm as when the skies are blue. Will be friends while life endureth— Cling to those who cling to you. When you see a worthy brother, Buffeting the stormy main, Lend a helping hand fraternal Till he reach the shore again; Don't desert the old and tried friend When misfortune comes in view. For he then needs friendship's comforts, Cling to those who cling to you.

MISCELLANY

SERENADE.

W. R. Ormiston took to his bosom a blooming bride, and thought to pass more cheerfully the lonely hours at home. Judge of his surprise when at the hour of ten in the evening, the slumbering echoes of the Hermon Cornet Band burst forth in full chorus in the room immediately below him. He has stood on old Oceans Shore, and heard the midnight thunder of the angry surf, had listened to one half of the water of a continent as it plunges over Niagra's brink, but those were as the sighing of the gentle zephyrs of July, as compared with the concentrated sound of the Cornet Band as sweet music in vast trooping volumes burst fourth from twenty instruments skillfully played. To say that he arose from his bed does not express it, at the first blast of the horns, he lit right in the middle of the floor, and proceeded at once to the room below where soon after another horn mingled in the grand chorus.

A motto for young lovers— So fit and no father.

A Detroit young lady, when chided by her parent for jumping over a fence, wanted to know if it was not leap-year.

"Did you ever know of a crack that was too tight for a spying old woman to peep through, Tom?" "Yes, John, the crack of a whip."

Charles Lamb, when speaking of one of his rides on horseback, remarked that "all at once his horse stopped, but he kept right on."

You can not convince a dog with a string of fire-crackers attached to his narrative that the American republic is a complete success.

The married ladies of a Western city have formed a Come-home-husband-club. It is about four feet long and has a brush on the end.

A watering-place correspondent writes that "very few bathers bathe at the West End," whereupon Mrs. Partington says she "had an idea they bathed all over."

A young gentleman at Kansas City sent seventy-five cents to New York for a method of writing without a pen or ink. He received the following inscription on a card: "Write with a pencil."

A little Chicago four-year-old created a ripple by saying to the teacher of her class: "Our dog's dead. I bet the angels were scared when they saw him coming up the walk. He's cross to strangers."

THE Franklin County Board of Supervisors have instructed the assessors to assess telegraph property the same as real estate. They have also prohibited the killing or selling of deer at any time except in the months of September and October. That is probably to prevent the Adirondack Club from catching cold in its feet by standing on runways after the bleak November weather sets in.—Advance.

KICK HIM DOWN HILL, OR, UPS AND DOWNS IN BUSINESS. This is the title of a book written by Miss M. M. Smith. This work is receiving the most favorable criticisms, not only from the Press, but from Senators of the United States, Members of Parliament, and other prominent individuals. As we have not yet read this work we clip from the many favorable notices, one written by a New York Publishing House Critic, which expresses all that any author could reasonably desire.

"Kick Him Down Hill, or, Ups and Downs in Business, Gold Wins, is written in a style almost unknown among books of romance—there is so much good sense tersely and forcibly told—real word-painting vivid and true to nature. The book is full of life. The characters are not overdrawn—her lessons of life its duties, hardships, conquests and triumphs are real—we all know just such cases, yet never before saw them put in a book. Her descriptive writing—portraiture of scenery and the actors as they move and say and do in the midst of the scenes is remarkable, and from a page of her book the artist could paint the scene itself. Such a combination of versatile talent—comedy—tragedy—force—philosophical reasoning—historical facts—enchancing fancy, and with all so much good sense, has never before fallen under my observation as the fortunate gift of a single writer."

BENT.
Too little rest, too little sleep,
Too many hours to sow and reap—
At last disease and pain!
Weak grows the never-loosened hand;
The strongest rope parts, strand by strand,
Beneath a ceaseless strain.

Let him who burns his midnight oil
In the lonely and unwholesome toil
Think, when he trims his lamp,
That thus he trims his life as well,
And hastens toward his last low cell—
Its darkness and its damp.

He who would travel far and long,
And keep a stately stride and strong,
Must rest beside the way.
A ceaseless pace at first may win,
But he who halts at wayside inn,
At last shall win the day.

To weary feet all streams are deep,
All roads are rough, all hills are steep,
As way-worn travelers know.
One hour of rest is a precious boon
To him who toils through heats of noon,
With painful steps and slow.

Then, ye who hope to make your mark,
Ere your last nightfall, cold and dark,
And stand above the throng
On some far, sun-kissed height of thought
Or do some deed no hand hath wrought—
Work, rest—and so be strong.

MISCELLANY.

We always felt a great deal of confidence in our power to read the mysteries of childhood, but we never can comprehend why it is that a bunch of little boys who find it difficult to spell, cat above a whisper in school can yell loud enough when playing to scare a country dog out of a year's growth.

Why are jokes like nuts? Because the dryer they are the better they crack.

Says a Western editor: "If we escape the hog cholera this season, there will be a large surplus of pork next Autumn."

Why is a fight between a man and his wife like a collision at sea? Because the weaker vessel is apt to get the worst of it.

A (Dime) Novel Answer. Teacher.—"Boys, what is Indian meal composed of?" Smart Scholar.—"Please ma'am, roast missionaries."

"In Norway drunkards are compelled to sweep the streets as a penance." That's nothing. They have to hold up lamp-posts in this country.

Teacher to six-year-old pupil.—"Was it colder or warmer a hundred years ago than at present?" Pupil (honestly).—"I really don't recollect, sir."

Father (in an educative mood).—"If you had three apples and should give me one, how many would you have left?" Calculative Son.—"I wouldn't do it, pa."

"How much did he leave?" asked a lady on hearing of the death of the late Commodore Vanderbilt. "Everything, ma'am," replied the lawyer; "he didn't take a penny with him."

"What is editorial courtesy?" asks a Southern paper. Why it is, when a Southern editor is caught stealing chickens at midnight and his brother-editors kindly allude to it as a "strange freak of a somnambulist."

ONE morning last week the thermometer stood at 23 degrees below zero, and a nice old lady of our acquaintance declares that she thinks it very strange that a little quicksilver in a glass tube can make such horrid cold weather by just falling in it an inch or so.

FOR

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

The subscribers having established a Commission House in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., invite their old acquaintances and friends to consign their butter and produce direct to them. The market is a good one and producers will have a percentage over New York sales, as much of the produce consumed in Poughkeepsie comes from New York City and has to pay a commission in that city which will be saved by consigning direct to our market.

"BY THE STILL WATERS."

Don't you hear the hickory crackling?
Muffled like, and soft and low;
Sounds just like an army tramping,
Only it's a sign of snow.
Here's a cinder smouldering, burning,
Droppin' ashes, powdered fine;
Don't be frightened, little misses,
It's a coffin, but it's mine.
Let me see the balm o' Gilead,
Wavin' by the cabin do'.
I won't hear its leaves a rustlin'
In the spring, my child, no mo';
Maybe I won't hear de bluebird
Singin' in de apple trees;
But I'll hear the angels singin'
Dsy'll have sweeter songs than these.

Hark! is dat de thunder rolling—
See de forked lightning's gleam:
Many a time I've soothed my baby
When de storm disturbed her dream.
Now de drum—I hear it beatin'
Slow and solemn-like for me;
Maybe it's de waves a breakin'
On de shores of Galilee.

"Twon't be dark, de stars am shinin'
Way above de storm and rain;
Dere'll be long protracted meetin's
Campin' on de heavenly plain.
Dere wont be no 'wailin' weepin'—
Dere wont be no day to part;
Christ will hear me when I knock dere,
He will bind de broken heart.

'Cross cold Jordan's troubled waters,
Into Casaan's land I fly;
Dere de tree of life is bloomin',
All de hosts am passin' by.
Raise me up, I hear de rustlin'
Angels at de cabin do';
Don't you weep for poor ole mammy,
She won't never grieve no mo'.

MISCELLANY

A doctor's motto is supposed to be "Patients and long suffering."

THE latest receipt for true eloquence was given by a minister at camp meeting. Here it is: "Get yourself chuck full of the subject, knock out the bung, and let nature caper."

AN old farmer in Massachusetts shows a scythe with which he says he has "mowed the same medder for goin' on forty-three year, an' I expect to mow with it till I'm no more.

A LADY, leaving home, was thus addressed by her little boy: "Mama, will you remember and buy me a penny whistle? and let it be a RELIGIOUS one, that I can use it on Sunday.

We read that recently a lady had several hundred dollars worth of point-lace clipped off her clothing by an adroit thief, while she was at church singing, "Strip me of the robe of pride: clothe me in humility."

ABOUT an hour before a game of base ball is to come off on the cricket-grounds the members of each club assemble at an appointed rendezvous. The captain arrives, calls the roll, discovers that all are present, and then asks, "Secretary, did you order a gallon of arnica and some splints and plasters?" "I did," is the reply. Treasurer, have you arranged with the undertaker to hold himself in readiness?" "I have." "Pitcher, did you secure a burial lot in Elmwood?" "I did." "Then let us march to the ground and to a glorious victory or a noble death!" And they march.

Universalist Sociable.

The friends of the society held quite an enjoyable sociable at the residence of Dr. Bliss. The house was full to overflowing. The evenings entertainment consisted of Select Reading, Songs, and a lively intercourse of chit-chat. We have just a word to say to a few young men who attended this visit. Procure some good book which treats upon the habits of "Good Society," and study it thoroughly, heed its teachings and you may become ornaments to society. There is such a thing as good breeding, and smart intelligent young men make a very great mistake if they fail to cultivate it.

Firemen's Meeting.

The Hermon Fire Company met pursuant to call. Mr. C. P. Wood was chosen foreman for the ensuing year. The meeting then chose a committee to take a census of the population of Hermon Village. Wm. D. FIRE.—Sabbath morning about half past two a. m., the alarm of fire was sounded in the streets. It proved to be the residence of B. VanAtter, which was entirely consumed. Much of the contents of the house was destroyed. The fire is supposed to be accidental although the exact cause is unknown. The insurance on house and contents was about $1700.

The horse and cow barns belonging to Roswell Haskell of Russell were entirely consumed by fire last Monday morning. None of the contents were removed but the stock and a cutter. The total loss on barn and contents was about $3500. Insurance $2500. The fire was caused by a lantern exploding in the underground cow stable, where Mr. Haskell was foddering his cows.

KICK HIM DOWN HILL, OR, UPS AND DOWNS IN BUSINESS.—This is the title of a book written by Miss M. M. Smith. This work is receiving the most favorable criticisms, not only from the Press, but from Senators of the United States, Members of Parliament, and other prominent individuals. As we have not yet read this work we clip from the many favorable notices, one written by a New York Publishing House Critic, which expresses all that any author could reasonably desire.

"Kick Him Down Hill, or, Ups and Downs in Business, Gold Wins, is written in a style almost unknown among books of romance—there is so much good sense tersely and forcibly told—real word-painting vivid and true to nature. The book is full of life. The characters are not overdrawn—her lessons of life its duties, hardships, conquests and triumphs are real—we all know just such cases, yet never before saw them put in a book. Her descriptive writing—portraiture of scenery and the actors as they move and say and do in the midst of the scenes is remarkable, and from a page of her book the artist could paint the scene itself. Such a combination of versatile talent—comedy—tragedy—force—philosophical reasoning—historical facts—enchanting fancy, and with all so much good sense, has never before, fallen under my observation as the fortunate gift of a single writer."

RESIGNATION.

There is no flock, however watched and tended

But one dead lamb is there!

There is no fireside, howsoever defended,

But has one vacant chair!

The air is full of farewells to the dying,

And mournings for the dead;

The heart of Rachel, for her children cries.

Will not be comforted!

Let us be patient! These severe afflictions

Not from the ground arise.

But oftentimes celestial benedictions

Assume this dark disguise.

We see but dimly through the mists and vapors:

And these earthly damps,

What seem to us but sad, funereal tapers

May be heaven's distant lamps.

There is no Death! What seems so is transition.

This life of mortal breath

Is but a suburb of the life elysian,

Whose portal we call Death.

And though at times impetuous with emotion

And anguish long suppressed,

The swelling heart heaves moaning like the ocean,

That cannot be at rest.—

We will be patient, and assuage the feeling

We may not wholly stay;

By silence sanctifying, not concealing,
The grief that must have way.

THURSDAY, FEB. 15TH, 1877.

THE fellow we spoke of in our last issue, called on us a few days ago, and—well to make a long story short, we have the cards yet. We will sell out cheap.

ACCORDING to antiquarian belief, his highness, the bruin, was not satisfied with Candlemas day, and returned to renew his long sleep for some weeks to come.

LUCKY our thaw caught cold before the snow all disappeared, for it is such hard times that we question whether we could have got enough for sleighing again this year.

WE are pained to announce the death of Belle and Carrie Knox, the dear, and only children of Mr. & Mrs. James E. Knox of Brooklyn, N. Y. The sad and heart-rending news reached us by wire of little Belle's death on Friday last, and of little Carrie's death on Sunday last. We can assure the family that their many friends in this county, sincerely sympathize with them in their very sad bereavement.

It cannot be disputed that the man who stops advertising for the purpose of retrenching his expenses succeeded in accomplishing his object. At the same time his receipts are largely retrenched, enabling a material saving in clerk hire. If the policy of retrenchment is adhered to, he will soon be able to elude the payment of rent and annoyances of conducting a business.—Advance

FOUND.—Near the M. E. Church Shed, Wednesday, Feb. 7., a Wollen Shawl. The owner may have the same by calling at this office, identifying property and paying for this notice.

Six weeks sleighing in March, just because bruin was not satisfied with Candlemas day.

THE Hermon Cornet Band is in great need of a Bass Drum. Now why don't the Ladies of Hermon get up some kind of an entertainment or oyster supper, and buy them one and thereby receive the most sincere thanks of all parties concerned.

THE closing out sale at D. S. Lynde continues. Ready-made Clothing, Boots & Shoes, Cloths & Cassimeres at New York cost for cash. Dress Goods at less than New York cost. Lovers of good Tea should call at once and buy some of D. S. Lynde for the price they are paying for elsewhere.

WE wish, through the columns of this paper, to thank our kind friends and neighbors, who rendered us such timely assistance in our late affliction and whose sympathy and friendship helped to smooth the rough path of sorrow. Such kindness passes not unheeded, "After many days it shall return unto you."

MRS. OTIS EARLE AND FAMILY.

OBITUARY.—The death of Otis Earle, Esq., took place at his residence in this village, at an early hour Monday morning, Feb. 5th. His disease was Pneumonia, brought on, in part, it is believed, by his over-exertion, at the burning of Mr. Van Atter's house a week before his death. He passed away calmly and peacefully.

His funeral was attended on Wednesday of last week, by Rev. Dr. J. S. Lee, of Canton, assisted by Rev. J. B. McCollough of this village. It is estimated that nearly a thousand persons were present during the services, though many could not get into the Methodist Church, which was crowded to its utmost capacity. The Freemasons, accompanied by the band, whose instruments were draped in mourning, were present from Canton, Russell, Edwards, Richville, Gouverneur, and Hermon, 175 in number, and they conducted the solemn and impressive service of the Order at the grave, through their representatives, Rev. Mr. McCollough and Hon. D. S. Lynde.

Mr. Earle was a resident of this village fifteen years, having previously done business in partnership with J. B. Picket, Esq. in Edwards for more than ten years. His age was fifty years. Peace to his memory.

THE Masonic Dance, to be held at the Doolittle House, Russell, N. Y., February 22d., for the benefit of the Russell Lodge No. 566, promises to be a success in every respect.

DRIFTING WITH THE TIDE.

The sun was sinking in the west,
A mist rose softly on the sea;
And through the evening's purple shades
We floated o'er the quiet sea.
The oars lay idly in their rest;
We leaned across the low boat's side,
And watched the waters dancing there,
As we went drifting with the tide.

She touched the ripples with her hand,
And when the rising moon shone bright
She seemed an angel sitting there,
So pure, beneath the silver light.
We floated onward in the dusk,
She sang as sweet as mermaid sings;
Across, through all the waste of years,
The echo of that song still rings.

Hearts, though, are false—so often so;
Her face was fair, her heart untrue;
I thought she loved me, on the night
We drifted in the shadows blue,
Across the waters, still and bright,
Beneath the tender Summer moon;
Oh! such a dream! Oh! such delight!
And it is faded—past—so soon!

Oh, woman's face is sweet and fair,
But woman's heart we cannot know;
I thought she loved me—she whom I
Had worshipped in the long ago.
Her path is there, and mine is here;
We each have gone our separate ways;
And buried with the vanished past,
The hours of those sweet olden days.

TOWN MEETING.

The town meeting passed off very quietly; but not without interest, as the Democratic, or as some may term it: "disaffected element" was fairly represented. The democrats elected their Highway Commissioner, Town Clerk, and Assessor, which speaks well for the men elected. We do not think that the democrats would have been successful in electing some officers they did, had the republicans been a little more liberal, and not tried to run the town meeting, as they often do, in the interest of a few. Hermon can well feel proud of the steps she has taken on the excise question as she elected Mr. E. E. Brown an out and out temperance man; upon a temperance issue. There has been a great moral reform in Hermon in the last six months; and we have good reasons to believe it will progress until she regains the reputation, she has often, unjustly lost. We have not always had the credit due us, as our neighbors charge us with our poor, and have not credited us with our good acts.

DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.

The Hermon Cornet Band are going to give a Dramatic Entertainment for the benefit of that worthy institution in a short time. Every person in this town should feel it their duty to patronize this entertainment and thereby help to encourage the efforts of this organization to such an extent that you may some day point with pride to it and fearlessly say that the Hermon Cornet Band is the best band in northern New York. Let everybody turn out and give them a crowded house.

REST THEE.
Rest thee, rest! we'll not deplore thee;
Rest in peace, forever rest;
Willows wave in silence o'er thee.
Turf are green above thy breast.
Love may come with fairy fingers.
Deck with flow'rs thy hallowed mould;
But a spell forever lingers.
O'er thy form now still and cold.
Love's endearments fond, inviting,
Wilt no more their sweet return,
Household joys how'er delighting,
Cannot charm thee from the urn.
But the hope that we shall meet thee,
Blind us with a mist o' sp'it;
And the joy with which we greet thee,
Thrills us now with, "All is well."

SAFE.

Safe! the battle-field of life,
Seldom knows a pause in strife.
Every path is set with shares,
Every joy is crossed by cares.
Brightest morn has darkest night,
Fairest bloom has quickest blight,
Hope has but a transient gleam,
Love is but a passing dream,
Trust is folly's helpless waif,
Who dare call their dearest safe?
But thou, though peril loom afar,
What hast thou to do with war?
Let the wild stream flood its brink,
There's no bark of thine to sink,
Let falsehood weave its subtle net,
Thou art done with vain regret.
Let Fortune frown and friends grow strange;
Thou hast past the doom of change.
We plan and struggle mourn and chafe—
Safe, my darling, dead and safe!

INCORPORATE.

It is natural for men to study the cost, and ascertain if possible, whether they are to be benefited or not before they embark in any new undertaking, or enterprise, and too often it is, that they allow personal aggrandizement or pecuniary gain to be the great mainspring to their actions. Those motives are well enough, perhaps, to be guided when we are acting for ourselves alone, as in a private capacity; but when the public are to be the ones to receive the benefits of our actions those mercenary motives ought not to be so deeply considered, if considered at all. We have a better opinion of human nature than the most of people, and for this reason we believe if men can on reflection, be made to see that the public interest demands their actions, they will doff their selfishness and act for the public good; for which reason we are confident that all can or may be made to see incorporation of our town is demanded. Who among us are prepared to say, that our village would not have been from seventy-five to a hundred thousand dollars better off had it not been for the loss it has sustained by fire? Who can say that our business is not crippled by those losses; and when the business interests of town are hampered, the surrounding community are also the losers. Experience, though a dear school, has taught us that we are constantly in danger from the ravages of fire and the rage of which cannot be successfully combated without the aid of some suitable fire exterminator, which we can never have unless our village is incorporated. How can we with this consideration only be so heedless, so dilatory so seemingly disregarding of our own interests as to let the work that has been done die in its infancy. Those who have the most interest at stake seem to be the least in earnest over the subject.

We will give further reasons why we should incorporate in our next issue.

THE BUILDERS.

All are architects of Fate,
Working in these walls of Time;
Some with massive deeds and great,
Some with ornaments of rhyme.
Nothing useless is, or low;
Each thing in its place is best;
And what seems like idle show
Strengthens and supports the rest.

For the structure that we raise,
Time is with materials filled;
Our to-days and yesterdays
Are the blocks with which we build.
Truly shape and fashion these;
Leave no yawning gaps between;
Think not, because no man sees,
Such things will remain unseen.

In the elder days of Art,
Builders wrought with greatest care
Each minute and unseen part;
For the Gods see everywhere.
Let us do our work as well,
Both the unseen and the seen;
Make the house where Gods may dwell,
Beautiful, entire, and clean,
Else our lives are incomplete,
Standing in these walls of Time,
Broken stairways, where the feet
Stumble as they seek to climb.
Build to-day then strong and sure,
With a firm and ample base;
And ascending and secure
Shall to-morrow find its place.
Thus aloft can we attain
To those turrets, where the eye
Sees the world as one vast plain,
And one boundless reach of sky.

MISCELLANEOUS

THE Hermon Reform Club, will give one of the finest entertainments, in Cline's Hall, next Friday evening that has ever been witnessed in this vicinity. It will pay everyone to go.

A late book is entitled "Half Hours With Insects." What a lively half hour one can spend with a bee.

An Eastern paper says "the editor has been photographed, and now we are ready to fill orders for comic valentines."

It is rather unkind to present a maiden lady with a copy of "Paradise Lost." The title is too suggestive now that leap year has passed away.

The joys of this world are indeed fleeting, but when a lot of boiled molasses gets into a girl's hair at a candy-pulling it may stick for weeks.

"Say, mister," said a newsboy to a man with a high shirt collar the other day, "how do you manage to spit over that collar? Do you use a step-ladder?"

A sign in a neighboring city reads: "Hichre-nuts for sails." An intelligent old gentleman says he don't see any joke in it, except that the fellow has spelt "nuts" with only one t.

A little girl asked a minister "Do you think my father will go to heaven?" "Why, yes, my child. Why do you ask?" "Well, because if he don't have his own way there, he won't stay long, I was thinking."

Owner coming into stable and addressing hostler: "I say, Jim." "Yes, sir." "Take Romeo's harness off and put it on Opheliu." "Yes, sir." "Give Gen. Sherman some oats." "Yes, sir." "Take Gen. Grant out to water." "Yes, sir." "And rub down the Grand Duchess." "Ay, ay, sir."

INCORPORATE.

If every man could be made to see that he would be able to make a dollar by having our village incorporated, no unnecessary time would elapse, before the necessary steps would be taken to accomplish that end; but so long as they can not be made to see that, and so long as they regard the dollar as paramount to all else, the act of incorporating, like all other laudable undertakings, will, of necessity meet strenuous opposition, admit for arguments sake only that we may be a few dollars out of pocket. Would we not, morally and religiously be the richer for it? Would we not stand a much better chance to redeem our character, and not be the subject of ridicule, and held in contempt, and derision by our sister towns, and regarded as the worst town in Northern New York except Carthage?

Our "City Fathers" would have the right, and it would be their duty to make such rules and regulations as would be necessary to prevent all vice and immorality, promote the public peace, and order, to restrain and suppress disorderly houses and houses of ill-fame or of assignation gaming houses, and instruments and devices for gaming.

Can any one say that each and every one of these vices are not carried on to some extent in our town?

Can any one pretend that if proper officers were elected, that they would not perform their duty faithfully? and if they did and suppressed those sins impartially that we would not be so benefited that money could not repay the value received? Let us remember always that a good name is rather to be chosen than many riches.

Besides these benefits and no doubt vital considerations to many, all fines and penalties would go to the incorporation, instead of going to town or County as they now do. Will those who have been appointed to act in this matter remain reticent? Will they not perform the trust assigned to them, and thus keep good the confidence imposed, in them, and not let so laudable an undertaking die in embryo, because they do not perform their duty? We trust we may not be obliged to call the attention of those interested to this matter again, and before another issue decided steps will be taken to accomplish the desired end.

THE Young Men's Christian Association have again dug up the hatchet and are on the war path. Last Sunday they preyed upon the new Maple Sugar Crop of Merion Westcott. They found it to be finest sugar they have yet come in contact with. We warn other sugar makers in this vicinity to be prepared for a similar attack. Disappointment in many cases is fatal.

THE GLAD TO-MORROW.

When the soul is dark with sorrow,
And we deem that no to-morrow
E'er can dawn to soothe our anguish,
Or one ray of joy impart.
All unmindful of our weeping,
Loving vigils ever keeping.
Smiling Hope with radiant plumage
Nestles close against the heart.

And her voice in tender singing Dreams of joy again are bringing;
Even while we sadly fancy
We have heard her last good-by.
"In your heart," she sings, "I'm sowing
Seeds of promise, which in growing,
Soon will win your lips to smiling,
And you'll see a sunlit sky."

"Stretching o'er you blue and tender,
And you'll know that Hope can render Saddest heart that ever sorrowed
Bright with blooming flowers at last.
Sweet 'twill be to watch them springing,
Blissful memories with them bringing,
While a mystic perfume hovers
O'er them from the shadowy past."

"For your faded joys will render,
Present hopes more sweetly tender,
As the shadows in the distance
Make the sunshine still more bright.
Then, oh, hearts, now steeped in sorrow,
Say not that no glad to-morrow
E'er can rise with radiant promise
From the darkness of your night!"

MISCELLANY.

THE Young Men's Christian Association made another raid last Sunday upon the farm house of John Ellis. It was found to contain some very fine syrup, which was immediately put on to "stew" by the obliging proprietor and ere long the association had the pleasure of partaking of the rich results.

CAT FUR.

No longer are cats to be doomed to drag out a useless existence and waste their midnight melodies upon unappreciative ears, for a heaven of rest is about being prepared for them on Mansfield island Lake Erie. A purchase of that island has been made by a man who intends to stock it with black cats, take excellent care of them, and kill their progeny for their fur. He will feed them at first on fish caught off the shore by men who will live on the island; but after the enterprise is well started, by a rare system of economy, he will utilize the meat of the slaughtered cats as food for the living cats.—Independent.

CONVICTED OF FORGERY.

J. B. Lamb, the Hermon Forger was arraigned before the Grand Jury last week on two indictments for forgery, to one of which he pled guilty, and was convicted of the other. For which Judge Tappan sentenced him to four years in Clinton to hard labor, for each indictment. We understand there are other indictments standing against him. Mr. Lamb has been a large bill of expense to this county, and justly deserves the reward he has received.

Shooting Affair.

A shooting affair occurred in Canton Tuesday night. Two men got so well "set up" at J. W. Ellsworth's liquor saloon (Mr. Ellsworth's license, obtained last year, has not yet expired) that when he attempted to clear them out they claimed that their right to be in the saloon was as good as that of the proprietor. He finally got them out in some way, and refused them entrance when they attempted to come in again. A few minutes afterwards Mr. Ellsworth stepped out of the door, when two pistol shots were fired at him, giving him a narrow escape.—Advance.

The subscribers having established a Commission House in Poughkeepsie, N. Y., invite their old acquaintances and friends to consign their butter and produce direct to them. OBITUARY.—Francis Matteson died at his home in Dekalb March 28th, 1877, aged 73 years. The subject of this sketch left his home in Vermont in the year 1822 and settled in Jefferson county near Watertown. In 1831 he moved to Dekalb, St. Lawrence county where he secured a beautiful home with an abundance of the things of the world. In 1826 he was married to Miss Hannah Dense, who still survives him. Father Matteson was a man who held a prominent place among his townsmen, being repeatedly elected to a position of trust by them. More than 40 years before his decease he gave himself to Christ and became a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, holding an official relation to the church the greater part of the time. And when the messenger of death came he was still bearing the burdens, and guiding by his counsels.

He was the father of seven children, five of whom, with the mother survive him. Peace to his ashes.

ANOTHER APPEAL FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS

The undersigned would say to her friends, and the public generally, that she is a firm believer in woman's rights. But that she is not sufficiently versed in the wisdom of the world to see the necessity, propriety, or utility of what is termed female suffrage; but thinks the laws as they are give all equal privileges to embark in any of the industries of the country, agricultural, mechanical or commercial, and acting according to this belief she has purchased E. Alexander's stock of goods and rented his store, where she will carry on the mercantile business and by confining the trade a little more to the ready pay system, she expects to sell goods lower than the old prices and by replenishing the stock as may be necessary to keep up the assortment, and by selling cheap and dealing fairly she trusts a generous public will grant her a share of their patronage, and she would cordially invite all to examine her goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere. Call whether you buy or not. She will take pleasure in showing you some good bargains.

Yours Very Respectfully,

FAREWELL TO YOUTH.

A parting sigh, oh, bonny youth!
A parting tear to-day;
Old sturdy Time, with chilling truth,
Is waving you away.
The sprinkled threads of silver white
Are mingling with the brown,
And sadly clouded all the while
The sun of life goes down.

For many years, oh, bonny youth,
We've lingered side by side;
The past is gaining, bonny youth,
Your cheerful face you hide.
The springing fountains and rippling streams
Look hazy as I pass,
And wistfully, in changing, dreams,
I long our sweet caress.

The plain is spreading wide and sere,
With here and there a stream;
An echo trembles on my ear—
Oh! can it be a dream?
A folded thought is laid away
For ills of life a cure;
The past has been a sunny day—
The future I'll endure.

The pathway now is gray and brown;
The red and gold is gone;
And as I walk the hill-side down,
The future calls me on.
Hope and the Cross is refuge now;
The God whom we adore,
Casts vain regrets from off the brow,
And stills the waters o'er.

On the occasion of the last lunar eclipse in Turkey the soldiers fired their guns in the air, with intent to kill the "devil who was carrying off the moon."

Says the Burlington Hawkeye: "The pioneer bumble bee of 1877, crept out of his hole in the ground yesterday, and after looking around for an hour or two for a boy to sting, found him, stung him, and went back to clean house."

It was an Irish pilot who, being asked if he knew the rocks in the harbor, replied with confidence: "I do, yer honor, ivery wan av them, and that's wan," he added calmly, as the ship struck it, filled and sunk.

A St. Louis Sunday-school boy gave his teacher this illustrative definition of "responsibility." "Boys has two buttons for their s'penders so's to keep their pants up. When one button comes off, why there's a good deal of responsibility on the other button."

THE new block on Church street presents a quaint and picturesque appearance.

A VERY sad and painful accident occurred at Louisville the other day. A little five year old son of M. C. SILAS WRIGHT.

[The following is a poem written upon the death of Silas Wright, in 1854, which has never before been published.]

How sad and thrilling was the sound,
How many hearts with anguish bled,
When echo in her airy round,
Proclaimed that Silas Wright was dead.

More startling than an awful burst
Of thunder on a cloudless sky,
For then the heart has learned the worst,
And knows the danger has past by.

But here the worst is yet to learn,
A chasm is made as dark as night,
Where shall we go or whither turn,
To find another Silas Wright.

In private life, in public state,
So plain, so frank, so pure, so tried,
So calm, so firm, so good, so great,
So fit to be a nation's guide.

Mourn for his loss throughout the state,
Who guided your affairs for years,
Mourn for his meloncholy face,
He well deserves a nation's tears.

But tears are vain, they ne'er can bring
His spirit back to earth again,
The angel with the sable wing,
Rath no reprieve to grant to man.

'Tis not for this that thousands mourn,
But that a mighty man hath fell,
Who had the front of battle borne,
And served his country long and well.

And can the nation e'er forget,
The noble deeds of freedom's son,
They are fresh in all our memories yet,
As fresh as when they first was done.

And while the star of freedom lights
This land, the home of liberty,
The memory of our own dear Wright,
Embalmed in every heart shall be.

And should our sun in darkness set,
Like Rome the empress of a day,
He still will be remembered yet,
The Cato of America.

"A soft answer turneth away wife dealing out soft answers to a pretty widow next door says he can prove that the proverb didn't work well in his case.

A gentleman, on walking out one Sunday evening, met a young peasant girl, whose parents lived near his house, "Where are you going, Jenny," said he. "Looking for a son-in-law for my mother, sir," was the smart reply.

He was lately asked by a friend his reasons for spending his bright morning hours in bed. "Well," said the sluggish gentleman, "you know the old proverb, 'the early bird catches the worm?'" "Yes," replied his friend.—"Well, I don't want the worm; I had one once."

THE TURCO-RUSSIAN WAR.

There seems to be nothing very new concerning the eastern war. Dispatches from Manchester dated May 5, state that the Russians won a great victory near Kars, taking 15000 prisoners, but other dispatches go to show that there is no truth in this statement. Another dispatch from London, same date, states that the Russians were defeated at Batum and three of their guns captured.

WAR AT HOME.

There has been quite a little war over a small matter of a telegraph pole, in this city, within a week past. The superintendent of the "Montreal" line raised a small army somewhere on the line of the R. W. & O. road and brought them on by special train at night. Under cover of the darkness the invaders crossed the Oswegatchie bridge at 4 A. M. on May-day morning in battle array and essayed to set up the pole at the Judson's Bank corner. Of a sudden they were confronted by a small but determined squad of the Ogdensburg fencibles. The struggle was "short, sharp and decisive," and victory perched on the banners of the gallant fencibles. The superintendent was taken prisoner and his forces were routed. The next day witnessed a civil combat, with a like result. Peace was at length negotiated. The company have concluded to dispense with the extra pole. Their wires have been extended to their new and commodious office in Stilwell's building on State street, which they have fitted up in admirable order.—Advance.

JOSH BILLINGS' ALLMINAX ON FUN.—Fun is the cheapest fisick that has bin discovered yet, and the eazyest to take. Fun pills are sugar coated, and no change of diet iz necessary while taking them. A little fun sumtimes goes a grate ways, i hav known men to liv to a good old age on one joke, which they managed to tell az often az once a day, and do all the laffing themselves. But there iz lots ov pholks who kant see enny phun in enny thing, yu couldn't fire a joke into them with a double barrell gun, 10 paces off, they go thru life as sollum az a cow. Menny people think it iz beneath their dignity to relish a joke, sutch people are simply fools, and dont seem to know it. The billings family are allwuss on the lookout for fun, it iz sed ov Dexter Billings, one ov our grandfathers, that he had to be kept under 500 dollar bonds all the time, to keep him from laffing in church. Fun iz the pepper and salt ov every day life, and all the really wiz men who have ever lived, hav used it freely for seasoning.

ANOTHER APPEAL FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS

The undersigned would say to her friends, and the public generally, that she is a firm believer in woman's rights. But that she is not sufficiently versed in the wisdom of the world to see the necessity, propriety, or utility of what is termed female sufferage; but thinks the laws as they are give all equal privileges to embark in any of the industries of the country, agricultural, mechanical or commercial, and acting according to this belief she has purchased E. Alexander's stock of goods and rented his store, where she will carry on the mercantile business and by confining the trade a little more to the ready pay system, she expects to sell goods lower than the old prices and by replenishing the stock as may be necessary to keep up the assortment, and by selling cheap and dealing fairly she trusts a generous public will grant her a share of their patronage, and she would cordially invite all to examine her goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere. Call whether you buy or not. She will take pleasure in showing you some good bargains.

Yours Very Respectfully,
ELIZA E. PICKIT.

MUSINGS.

I love to roam when nights dark curtains fall.
By singing brooks in nature's spacious hall.
And listen while the earth is wrapped in sleep
To voices which my memory'll ever keep;
Voices which sung when life was in its prime,
Before the soul was stained with thoughts of crime;
For in such musings I am hurried back,
Through many a year o'er many a weary track;
To childhoods day its sorrow and its joy
And musing there again I am a boy.
Again I roam through Hermon's quiet streets.
And see the loafers in their wonted seats;
The saucy schoolboy's shout rings as of yore,
And busy merchants sit beside their door;
The town clock counts the hours with dreary toll,
As one by one they by us swiftly roll;
The schoolhouse with its warped and tattered floor,
Where barefoot urchins play beside the
door,
Painful the memories which thy sight must bring;
Painful as was the birch's unwelcome sting,
Taught there to say "I love" for grammar-dull,
Now without grammar I repeat it still.
But now these scenes in visions only come Bearing me on their wings to childhoods home,
Bridging the flood of years that rolls between,
My present state and each familiar scene,
Raising anew the hopes which long have fled,
Bring to life the friends who now are dead;
Tuning my lyre to sing in loudest praise,
Of friends and scenes of youth's unclouded days.

To keep fish from smelling—
Cut off their noses.

Six-year-old: "Mamma, what are twins made for?" Precocious older brother: "So that Cannibals may eat philopenas."

A Wisconsin constable levied on the "undivided half" of a gray mule. He wasn't particular which end he took, and it was thirteen days before he opened his eyes and recognized his wife.

An Irishman called at a printing office with an advertisement, and, like a prudent man, inquired what it would cost. He was informed that for one insertion the price would be $2, subsequent insertions seventy cents. "An' faith" said he,
"I'll only have two subsequent insertions, if you please."

Two men were sitting together in a smoking car on a Danbury railway the other morning, when one of them observed to the other:
"I lost as likely a colt as you ever saw, last winter."

After a pause the addressed party inquired:

"Did it die?"
"Die!" repeated the loser somewhat resentfully, "how could I have lost it if it hadn't died?"

"I didn't know but it slipped through a crack in the floor," said the other man in an injured tone.
Both men lapsed into silence after that.

An exchange makes the following excellent point: "Much might be gained if speakers would observe the millers rule—always to shut down the gate when the grist is out."

CHAS. PLINY EARLE,

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

THURSDAY, MAY 31st, 1877.

Rev. J. S. LEE, D. D., will preach in Seymour's Hall, next Sunday. A special invitation is extended to all.

E. E. BROWN was ordained as a minister of the gospel, at the Baptist Church, Wednesday May 23d. We wish him unlimited success in his new undertaking.

Rev. Henry Ward Beecher will lecture at Union Hall, Gouverneur, next Tuesday evening. This will be a rare opportunity of hearing this great man.

THE law now directs pathmasters to remove the loose stones from the highways in their respective districts once in each month between April and September.

THE Stone Front to D. S. Lynde's new store is completed and now Hermon can boast of one the finest blocks in northern New York. It adds largely to the appearance of the town.

THE Mammoth Trout, well known to Trout Lake fishermen, and nic-named "Old Golding" has at last passed in his checks. His weight was 42 pounds, and he bore many signs of extreme old age.

WHILE Gouverneur is boasting of a visit from the great preacher, Hermon can boast of an endless number of little insects sometimes called "potato bugs." If you think we have the most to boast of, "we'll trade."

THE Ogdensburg Advance was purchased last week by D. T. Elmer of Rome, N. Y., and Geo. F. Darrow of West Eaton, Madison county. The paper will continue as heretofore with Geo. F. Darrow as editor. We heartily welcome them to our county, and wish them success.

WILSON'S

LAST SENSATION

$1.50 PER DOZEN.

All those that want first class Photographs or any other kind of pictures can get them by calling at Wilson's between now and the first of June, as my gallery will be closed from that date until the first of September next. This is no humbug. This gallery will be closed the first day of June. I have already advertised to visit towns in Franklin county, personally with my portable house, and will have to fill my agreement, so those who wish first class pictures will do well to call at once and avoid the closing rush.

Dow & GREEN wants 500 pounds more good Maple Sugar.

Dow & GREEN have just received a fresh supply of Paris Green and Hellebore

MILLINERY goods. Another new lot of Paris Millinery just opened at Austin's, Hermon, N. Y. Cheaper than ever.

THE Blacksmith Shop owned by John Williams was burned last Saturday morning. Loss $1300. Insurance on building $700.

LAST Thursday a woman in Russell, N. Y., gave birth to four well formed children. Their aggregate weight was 9 pounds. Unfortunately they all died; thus depriving Barnum of one of the greatest curiosities of the age.

THERE are always some people who are ready to condemn everything, and set everything down as a fraud before they have given it a trial. Allen's Washing Fluid is no humbug, it is truly the wash-women's friend. Give it a trial.

Miss Millie De Granville, the young lady with the iron jaw, who travels with Barnum, is a Canadian by birth, is twenty-three years of age, weighs, 176 pounds, and boasts of wearing No. 2 shoes. Her salary is $175 per week and expenses.

ANOTHER new lot of Boots and Shoes at W. A. Leonard's. His prices are way down below anything we have heard of. Remember his stock of Boots & Shoes were all bought new this spring, since the late decline, which enables him to sell at a lower price than other dealers.

D. S. LYNDE has this day received direct from New York a new fresh stock of Dress Goods, Gingham, Prints, bleached and unbleached Cambrics, Chiviot and Everet Shirtings &c. The patterns are all new and desirable, and have not been opened in any other town and the most desirable ones selected out and sold to small city trade thinking what was left would be good enough to offer to people living so very near the woods as we do and so very far from the beautiful river St. Lawrence. But most people that buy goods have eyes, and if they do live in the wilderness many have some judgment, and our increasing sales are demonstrating the fact. We shall continue to sell all of our Ready Made Clothing, Boots & Shoes, Cloths, Cassimeres and Dress Goods, at New York cost until we occupy our new store, and we will sell our new goods just received as low, if not lower than any traveling plunder will be likely to be offered. Call and see us and judge for yourselves.

THE PEACE OF GOD.

O Refuge in sorrow!
O savior from sin!
No storm shakes our dwelling
If Thou art within!
Our bark fears no shipwreck
If Thou art on board—
Our King and our helper,—
Our Brother, our Lord!
Far off we deemed Thee;
We sought Thee for years,
Without, there was fighting;
Within, there were fears.
But now dawns the morning,
The darkness hath fled,—
Unfelt, He has led us;
Unseen, He hath led.

O souls that still struggle,
That long to be blest,
The door standeth open.—
Come, enter and rest;
We preach no new gospel
But that you have heard;
This only we ask you—
Take God at His word.

One sentence we bring you
Which oft we have read:—
Believe, when he said it
He meant what he said,—
"Be careful for nothing;
In everything tell
Your trouble to Him who Hath loved you so well."

"Be careful for nothing!
In great things in small,
That love is sufficient
Which worketh through all."
Dear Master, forgive,
Poor sinners who dare
To limit the mercy
Which answers our prayer!

O Infinite fullness!
What canst Thou not be
To those who, believing,
Come boldly to Thee?
No storm shakes the dwelling
When thou art within,
O strength for our weakness!
O Savior from sin!

sionate murmur. Then there was

HARD TIMES.

What shall we do? What fearful hard times! You cannot step upon the streets without hearing these expressions. Now what is the cause of this? The great mischief of to-day is that those who have money are afraid to part with it for fear of never getting any more, and so the mill of business is idle for want of grist. What is hoarded money, but a skeleton in the closet?—dead alike to those who have it, and those who are in need of it. Then if any man has money to spend, let him spend it now. If he needs anything useful or ornamental, and can afford it, let him get it now and pay for it without delay. Keep money moving. Bread cast upon the waters will return. Let us then each put a shoulder to the wheel; then darkest frowns of fortune will give way to her brightest smiles, and success will attend our every effort. Let us tear away the dams which we have been building around us for fear our money would find its way out into the world, and then the waters of plenty will flow in every direction, and all will be benefited thereby. But if each one makes a god of what little money he happens to possess the load will become heavier and heavier until by and by the last straw will be added which will break the camel's back, and nothing will be left us, but a grand moral as well as financial wreck, the result of our own folly and short-sightedness. The race is not always to the swift nor the battle to the strong; but perseverance and determination will work wonders if we keep united and possess our souls in patience. Send out your money, then, if you have it and like the dove sent forth from the ark it will return, bringing with it the olive branch of peace and prosperity to bless and comfort your declining years.

ANOTHER APPEAL FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS

The undersigned would say to her friends, and the public generally, that she is a firm believer in woman's rights. But that she is not sufficiently versed in the wisdom of the world to see the necessity, propriety, or utility of what is termed female suffrage; but thinks the laws as they are give all equal privileges to embark in any of the industries of the country, agricultural, mechanical or commercial, and acting according to this belief she has purchased E. Alexander's stock of goods and rented his store, where she will carry on the mercantile business and by confining the trade a little more to the ready pay system, she expects to sell goods lower than the old prices and by replenishing the stock as may be necessary to keep up the assortment, and by selling cheap and dealing fairly she trusts a generous public will grant her a share of their patronage, and she would cordially invite all to examine her goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere. Call whether you buy or not. She will take pleasure in showing you some good bargains.

AUSTIN & IRISH have added another first class company to their numerous others, namely, Home Insurance Company of Columbus, Ohio, Assets, $500,000.00, are now prepared to take all kinds of risks at considerable lower rates than can be obtained elsewhere.

THERE has been a rumor afloat that the Grand Excursion from Hermon to Alexandria Bay, Saturday June 16, had fell through. We are authorized by Mr. Cline, the Manager, to state to our readers that this report is utterly false, and that the excursion will certainly come off.

The Loom of Life.

All day, all night I hear the jar
Of the loom of life, and near and far
It thrills with its deep and muffled sound
As the tireless wheels go round.
Busily, ceaselessly goes the loom.
In the light of day and the midnight's gloom.
The wheels are turning early and late,
And the woof is wound in the warp offate.
Click, Clack! there's a thread of love wove in;
Click, Clack! another of wrong and sin;
What a checkered life w l this lif b:
When we see it unrolled in eternity.

Time, with a face like mystery,
And hands as busy as hands can be,
Sits at the loom with its arm outstren d
To catch in its meshes each glancing thread.
When shall this wonderful web be done?
In a thousand years perhaps, or one,
Or to-morrow. Who knoweth? Not you nor I,
But the wheels turn on and the shuttles fly.

Ah sad-eyed weaver, the years are slow,
But each one is nearer the end I know;
And some day the last thread shall be woven in,
God grant it be love instead of sin.
Arn we spinners of wool in this life web say?
Do we furnish the weaver a Thread each day?

It were better than, oh my friend, to spin
A beautiful thread than a thread of sin.

ANOTHER APPEAL FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS

The undersigned would say to her friends, and the public generally, that she is a firm believer in woman's rights. But that she is not sufficiently versed in the wisdom of the world to see the necessity, propriety, or utility of what is termed female suffrage;
but thinks the laws as they are give all equal privileges to embark in any of the industries of the country, agricultural, mechanical or commercial, and acting according to this belief she has purchased E. Alexander's stock of goods and rented his store, where she will carry on the mercantile business and by confining the trade a little more to the ready pay system, she expects to sell goods lower than the old prices and by replenishing the stock as may be necessary to keep up the assortment, and by selling cheap and dealing fairly she trusts a generous public will grant her a share of their patronage, and she would cordially invite all to examine her goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere. Call whether you buy or not. She will take pleasure in showing you some good bargains.

THURSDAY, JULY 5TH, 1877.

The dance at the Hermon House last evening was well attended, and everyone says they enjoyed themselves splendid.

The Glorious Fourth was justly observed in Hermon. The day was ushered in by the firing of 36 guns accompanied by ten thousand yells, ringing of bells, raising of the stars and stripes etc. At 11 o'clock a match game of ball was played between the Rough and Ready club and the Hermon Village club. In the afternoon and evening Ice Cream was served in Seymour's Hall by the Women's Christian Temperance Union. The Hermon Cornet Band furnished music for the occasion.

In the match game of ball last Saturday, between the Rough and Ready's of Russell, and the Hermon Village club, played on the former club's ground, the Hermon club was victorious by the following score:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Hermon B. B. C. 6 8 0 5 1 5 4 8 13 2-50
Rough & Ready, 2 3 4 0 0 4 0 0 0 2-15
Henry P. Gale, Umpire.

Another game was played at Hermon, July 4th, between the same clubs which resulted in a second victory for the Hermon boys, by the following score:

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 10
Hermon B. B. C. 10 5 8 7 0 1 0 6 5 0-42
Rough & Ready, 1 0 3 2 2 5 0 2 0 0-16

WASH Kinnie has erected a nice little blacksmith shop near his residence where he invites all his old patrons to call on him for their work in this line.

"I make it a point, madam, to study my own mind," said a gentleman to a lady who had exhibited some surprise at an opinion he had expressed. "Indeed!" she replied, "I didn't suppose you understood the use of the microscope."

D. S. LYNDE will commence the erection of his other new store, in a few days. The lower part will be used for a Post Office and the second floor for a Printing Office.

MESSRS Burnham & Sons, have again taken the contract for carrying the mail from Dekalb to Hermon and Russell and we can depend upon it being done as it should be.

It is hard to believe but nevertheless it is a fact, that over one half the labor and fatigue of washing is done away with by the use of Allen's Washing Fluid. It does not injure the finest fabric. Give it a trial.

A CARTHAGE gallant wrote up on two postal cards, the other day. By misdirecting them a Syracuse shirt firm got an invitation to take a carriage ride by moonlight, and the gallant's girl was requested to send him a sample of the stuff of which her shirts were made.

DURING the thunder storm on Friday last, the American House, in Canton, was struck by lightning, the fluid passed down the chimney and stove pipe, through the room of a guest of the house. But little damage was done the house or its occupants.—Commercial Advertiser.

It is astonishing how low W. A. Leonard is selling his boots and Shoes. He has got the finest stock in town and all new. He has just got in a nice line of womens shoes and the nicest and largest stock of childrens shoes that you will find in any large town. It will pay you to get his latest prices before purchasing elsewhere.

OBITUARY—MR. F. R. BROWN formerly of Russell, N. Y. Died at his residence on Sears street, Denison, Texas, Friday June 1st, 1877. Age 39 years. The "News," of that place says of him. There are few of our citizens who loss would be more sensibly felt by the business community than will be that of Mr. Brown. He was a man possessed of great public spirit, of keen foresight, and unerring judgment and did as much towards building up this city of adoration as almost any other individual.

The faculty of the Hermon Graded School for the fall term, which will commence about September 1st, will be as follows: Mr. Bugbee, of Canton, Principal. Julia A. Dixon, Secondary department, and Anna Gale, Primary department. The above are all first class teachers of long experience, and there is no doubt but that the school this fall, will be a great success.

At last the people of Hermon have been made aware of the fact that our cemetery was in a very dilapidated condition. With shovel and hoe they proceeded hence. Mark the result. With but a few days work it is astonishing what a great improvement has been made in its appearance. The people need much credit for taking hold of this matter with such a will. A large number of evergreen trees have been set out, and we hope we may ere long point with pride to our neat pleasant little cemetery where not many weeks ago, stood a tangled mass of shrubbery.

NOTICE.—Notice is hereby given to all persons indebted to me, that their account must be settled before August 1st, or they will be left in other hands for collection. At that time I shall move to my new office on Main street, where I wish to greatly increase my facilities for doing job printing.

THE PARTING HOUR.

There's something in the "parting hour"
Will chill the warmest heart.
Yet kindred, comrade, lovers, friends,
Are fated all to part;
But this I've seen—and many a pang
Has pressed it on my mind—
The one who goes is happier
Than those he leaves behind.

The bride goes to the bridegroom's home
With doubtings and with tears,
But does not hope her rainbow spread Across her cloudy fears?
Alas! the mother who remains,
What comfort can she find,
But this—the one is happier
Than one she leaves behind.

Have you a friend, a comrade dear,
An old and valued friend?
Be sure your time of sweet discourse
At length will have an end!
And when you part—as part you will—
Oh, take it not unkind,
If he who goes is happier
Than you he leaves behind.

God wills it so, and so 't is;
The pilgrims on the way,
Though weak and worn, more cheerful are
Than all the rest who stay.
And when at last, poor man subdued,
Lies down to death resigned,
May he not still be happier far
Than those he leaves behind?

MISCELLANEOUS.

When a young woman blushes and weeps, can she be said to raise a hue and cry?

A merchant asked his Sabbath-school class the other Sunday, "What is solitude?" and was answered by a boy that reads the papers, "The store that does not advertise."

An Indiana girl at Vassar College, writes to her parents: "This is the most stylish hair-pin of a boarding-school I ever tumbled to. I can eat four times a day if I want to, and get a fair hack at the hash every time."

It was all very well for little Jonny Burke, to hold that fire cracker in his teeth, last Monday, but unless they celebrate the Fourth of July in heaven, he has missed that interesting and well-founded institution this year.

A stranger with a weak back walked into the drug store the other day and said he wanted the strongest kind of a mustard plaster. With a fiendish grin the clerk built up a terrible mixture and passed it out. That night the inmates of the hotel were startled from their slumbers by loud cries in room 57. When the door was burst open they found the stranger wrestling with that mustard plaster in Græco-Roman style. But the plaster had thrown him twice, and was now thumping him against the wall preparatory to drawing him through the key-hole. It took two policemen to separate the two.

CHAS. PLINY EARLE,

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

THURSDAY, JULY 19th, 1877.

TO OUR READERS, PATRONS AND FRIENDS.

With this issue we close the second volume of our paper. Two years ago we launched our frail little bark upon the journalistic wave with but faint hopes of its success. Bravely it has battled with the strong wave of adversity, and though it has been badly crippled at times, it now floats buoyantly on the calm and quiet waters.

When our paper first made its appearance our little town was nothing but ruins. Mark the change! In two short years! Long rows of elegant brick fronts meet the eye of the beholder, and Hermon can now boast of one of the finest stone front blocks in this part of the state. Hardly a vestige of the disastrous fire of 1875 is now to be seen. D. S. Lynde is now erecting still another store and quite a goodly number of dwelling houses are in process of erection. The things Hermon now stands in need of are Incorporation and a good School House. We hope before another year rolls around we may have both, and new side walks in place of the break-neck ones we now have as the result of incorporation, and see the old site now occupied by an old frame building covered by a massive brick structure that this town may well be proud of. In a few weeks we shall move our office to the large and commodious rooms over D. S. Lynde's new store, where we shall greatly increase our facilities for doing Job Work of all kinds. We cordially invite our friends of both sexes to call and see us in our new office. We thank our readers for the many acts of benevolence bestowed upon us by them, and our patrons for their very liberal patronage in the past, and it is our stern determination to so conduct our business in the future that we shall merit a continuance of the same. We ask the public to judge our feeble efforts with candor, and criticize with charity. We are young and inexperienced, and without a guiding hand are subject to error, but we feel confident that in such a case a true man would come to us and advise, rather than to condemn our faults. The true man is the one, then, to whom we apply for help, the scoundrel we defy.

THE WAY OF THE WORLD.

There are beautiful songs that we never sing

And names that are never spoken.

There are treasures guarded with jealous care

And kept as a secret token,

There are faded flowers and letters dim With the tears that have rained above them,

For the fickle words and faithless hearts That taught us how to love them.

There are sighs that come in our joyous hours

To chasten our dreams of gladness, And tears that spring to our aching eyes In hours of thoughtful sadness.

For, the blithest birds that sing in spring Will fit the waning summer,

And lips that we kiss in fondest love Will smile on the first new comer.

Over the breast where lilies rest In white hands still forever,

The roses of June will nod and blow, Unheeding the hearts that sever,

And lips that quiver in silent grief, All words of hope refusing,

Will lightly turn to the fleeting joys That perish with the using.

Summer blossoms and winter snows, Love and its sweet elysian,

Hope, like a siren dim and fair, Quickening our fainting vision;

Drooping spirit and failing pulse, Where untold memories hover,

Eyelids touched with the seal of death, And the fitful dream is over.

MISCELLANEOUS

THE base ball mania is on the increase in the county. Broken thumbs and legs, sprained ankles, bruised shins and other mishaps incident to the robust game, are now in order.

A clumsy man with big feet is the biggest train-wrecker a lady knows of.

"I wouldn't hang around where I wasn't wanted," said the raspberry purple with rage, as he kicked the strawberry off the fruit stand.

There is nothing that will make a fond husband madder than, when shaking dice with his wife to decide whether he or she shall clean the fish for breakfast on a Sunday morning, to have the woman put one hand behind her back, shut her eyes, and throw five aces.

One stray Western grasshopper wandered out this way lately and struck a Boston suburban bean patch. When he got through he lay quietly down, repented of his misdeeds, read a chapter from Emerson, and, with a Boston girl soothing his forehead, passed calmly into oblivion.

A Madison street man crawled out on the woodshed, one night last week, with a stove-wrench in his hand, to beat time for a cat opera company, but making a misstep on the wet shingles, he immediately found himself sliding into the next world at the rate of a mile a minute. A nail caught in his night-shirt and switched him from the direct line, and he brought up in a barrel of rain water. His cries attracted the neighbors, who found his head and feet visible above the top of the barrel, and got him out by cutting the hoops. Now he wears a look of resignation and a square yard of court-plaster.—Rome Sentinel.

INCORPORATION.

We are pleased to inform our readers that measures are now being taken to accomplish the incorporation of our village. Our people are now fully convinced that we cannot have the credit due us, or show the spirit of thrift entitled us, until we place ourselves in a position where a majority can rule. Anyone who can see the recent improvements made in our cemetery grounds, can well judge what improvements we would make if an opportunity presents, and the public spirit by which our people are actuated. We are not aware of any town that has been eminently successful, without being incorporated, and united, and we fear not the unity after incorporation. We know of no town, that has not been incorporated, that can boast of as much thrift and energy as Hermon and she has that name abroad; and this being a fact, we like many of our neighbors, are surprised that we have lived so long without having the same rights secured to us that other villages have.

A Peculiar Day.

The 7th of July was the 7th day of the week, the 7th day of the month, the 7th month of the year, the 7th year of the decade and the 7th decade of the century. The next generation will doubtless possess several phenomenal persons born on this day, who will be the 7th son of the 7th son or 7th daughter of the 7th daughter. Look out for them.

ANOTHER APPEAL FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS

The undersigned would say to her friends, and the public generally, that she is a firm believer in woman's rights. But that she is not sufficiently versed in the wisdom of the world to see the necessity, propriety, or utility of what is termed female suffrage; but thinks the laws as they are give all equal privileges to embark in any of the industries of the country, agricultural, mechanical or commercial, and acting according to this belief she has purchased E. Alexander's stock of goods and rented his store, where she will carry on the mercantile business and by confining the trade a little more to the ready pay system, she expects to sell goods lower than the old prices and by replenishing the stock as may be necessary to keep up the assortment, and by selling cheap and dealing fairly she trusts a generous public will grant her a share of their patronage, and she would cordially invite all to examine her goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere. Call whether you buy or not. She will take pleasure in showing you some good bargains.

By the request of the Citizens of Hermon a meeting will be held at the office of W. G. Brown on the 6th day of August at one o'clock P. M. for the purpose taking such measures as may be necessary to complete the incorporation of the village of Hermon. A full attendance is required.

THE Oriental B. B. C. of Hermon played a match game of ball with the No Name B. B. C. of Canton, on the Fair ground at Canton, Saturday July 21st which resulted in a victory for the No Name Base Ball club by a score of 14 to 6. Our boys played a splendid field game but where they lacked was in batting swift balls. The Oriental's also played a match game with the X. L. B. B. club of Dekalb Junction Saturday July 27th which resulted in a victory for the Oriental's by a score of 15 to 14.

THE Trout Lake House, erected by Asa Gardner, is now completed and ready for the accommodation of the public. It is a large frame building and has been erected with great care. With Asa as landlord the public can rely upon it, that there will be no pains spared to make it pleasant for their patrons. We understand that Asa has secured the services of a cook from Ogdensburg, and the "hash" will doubtless be first-class. It is useless to try to describe the beautiful lake upon whose shores the Trout Lake House is situated. Imagine a clear quiet body of water two or three miles long by one mile wide dotted with numerous little islands with rock-bound shores on either side covered with the most beautiful scenery that ever met the eye of mortal man. Purer air never fanned the face of the weary pleasure seeker, and as it rustles through the tall pines, the sweet music which it affords is simply grand, sublime. Look the picture over! ponder on the scene that meets your gaze, and can you for a moment doubt, but that this place is destined to be one of the leading summer resorts on this continent.

Nature has lavished her brightest smiles upon this little spot, and is it destined to be forever hidden from the eye of man? The echo answers, No.

I WOULD NOT, IF I COULD.

I would not dig my past
Up from its grave of weakness and regret;

Up from its hopes—which glimmered
but to set—

Its dreams, that could not last!

Yet I can look before,
And profit by the lessons sadly learned;
As children, playing with the fire are burned,

And tempt its glow no more.

I would not, if I could,
Live o'er again this dark, uncertain life—
This slipping backward in the daily strife
Of reaching after good.

Yet I can know how weak
Are all below, and so sweet charity
Will cling and grow about each form I see
And thus to me will speak:

I would not open out
The half healed wounds of other years, long fled;

'Twere better they were numbered with the dead
Better than fear of doubt.

Yet I can truly say,
Let the dead past bury its dead. We go
So swiftly onward to life's sunset glow—
And then there is no day!

Life is so short to waste
In vain repinings or in weak regrets;
The strongest heart endures and never frets

O'er joys it may not taste.

And he who can go on Bravely and firmly in the allotted way, Gaining new strength with every darkened ray.

Shall reach the dawn.

And so I would not lift
Up from the grave the shadows of my past
The clouds that all my sky once overcast
Into the night may drift.

For there's enough to fill Each hour and moment of the days to come:

Then wherefore woo the shadows to our home?

The valleys to our hill?

A two-foot rule—keep your feet dry.

Why are troubles like babies?
Because they get bigger by nursing.

A naturalist claims to have discovered that crows, when in flocks, have regularly organized courts, in which they sit around and try offenders—a sort of crow-bar, so to speak.

"Do those bells sound the alarm of fire?" said a stranger the other Sunday, as the church-bells were calling together the worshipers.
"Yes," was the reply, "but the fire is in the next world."

It makes a man feel mean enough to bite his coat buttons off to discover that, when the collection-

Deacon Jones, just deceased, had thought it rather personal in the minister to begin his discourse,

"Another shining light has been you." And then all was quiet.

A little girl was teaching her

denly called out: "Pray for sirup, too, sister; pray for sirup, too."

THE PROCESS OF INCORPORATION CONTINUES.

We are informed that the survey and map of the grounds to be incorporated in our proposed incorporation are now about completed and all necessary arrangements will soon be completed to perfect the proper notices of the first meeting to ascertain whether the incorporation will be completed or not, and this part we have no fears about for our people have lived with break neck walks long enough so they begin to sigh for relief.

Those who are moving for incorporation have taken the precaution not to embrace within the incorporation limits any more territory than the people can fully sanction, and we are confident none will oppose incorporating where the boundaries are now run. The incorporation limits as run last winter were well calculated to inherit the opposition of many, for the reason it embraces much territory that would be but a bill of expense to taxpayers of the incorporation. Mr. Samuel McCollum exhibits a very commendable public and liberal disposition in offering $100. to the corporation in consideration of which his farm has been left out of the corporation limits. If all others would do as well our town would be second to none in the county in point of beauty and general thrift.

NOTICE.

The meeting for the purpose of incorporating our village was adjourned to the 16th inst., at eight o'clock P. M., at the law office of W. G. Brown. All are invited to attend.

ANOTHER APPEAL FOR WOMEN'S RIGHTS

The undersigned would say to her friends, and the public generally, that she is a firm believer in woman's rights. But that she is not sufficiently versed in the wisdom of the world to see the necessity, propriety, or utility of what is termed female suffrage; but thinks the laws as they are give all equal privileges to embark in any of the industries of the country, agricultural, mechanical or commercial, and acting according to this belief she has purchased E. Alexander's stock of goods and rented his store, where she will carry on the mercantile business and by confining the trade a little more to the ready pay system, she expects to sell goods lower than the old prices and by replenishing the stock as may be necessary to keep up the assortment, and by selling cheap and dealing fairly she trusts a generous public will grant her a share of their patronage, and she would cordially invite all to examine her goods and prices before purchasing elsewhere. Call whether you buy or not. She will take pleasure in showing you some good bargains.

Yours Very Respectfully,

THE MAIDEN'S LOVE.

The fleetest horse in all the land,
So swift you cannot ride
But that his shadow on the sand
Will follow by your side.
And if your heart with love be sore
For one who feels your pain,
You cannot love that maiden more
Than she will love again.

So red a rosebud never blew
When opened by the wind,
But that one more as bright of hue
By seeking you may find.
And all that wooing lips e'er swore
Of greater truth is vain;
You cannot love a maiden more
Than she will love again.

The fairest fish upon the line
So matchless may not be,
But that some other fish as fine
Is swimming in the sea.
And love as man ne'er loved before,
This truth will still be plain;
You cannot love a maiden more
Than she will love again.

The horse will live while grass is free,
The rose while wet with dew,
The fish while swimming in the sea,
And love while love is true.
While light is in the sun above,
And flowers are on the plain,
So long as you are true to love,
She'll love you back again.

If you pass through the hen-

you will notice a sadness creeping over the countenances of the old

out.

An Irishman fresh from the old and ye had better let loose the howlt ye have, or I'll kick ye out of the very box ye sit in, be jabers."

STAND BY THE RIGHT.

Stand by the right, where'er you be;
In honor place your trust!
Though men may scoff and call you weak,
Still let your every act bespeak
A mind that will be just.

Stand by the right when foes assail!
March! march! with bravery on,
And you shall gain the glorious prize
Which in the future surely lies
For labor nobly done.

Stand by the right, e'en though you find
There's trouble in your path!
Brave is the man who dares to stand
With fearless heart and active hand,
And scorns the scoffer's wrath.

Stand by the right, and never swerve
From duty's plain decree!
March with the good, and you shall win
Grand victories o'er wrong and sin,
And crush adversity.

Stand by the right, and you will find
Success and honor too;
Stand by the right, the true, the just!
In Heaven place your constant trust—
To manhood e'er be true.

Stand by the right, the skies may lower,
The sun may cease to shine,
But you will find that in the storm
Heaven hath placed a blessing warm—
A blessing all divine.

MISCELLANY

We are two days late this week caused by our removal to our new office on Main street. We are now very pleasantly located, and shall be glad to meet all of our old patrons and friends and as many new ones as may favor us with a call. Our facilities for doing job work is unsurpassed, and we hope to merit a continuance of the liberal patronage heretofore received.

An Iowa Justice refused to fine a man for kissing a girl against her will. He thought she ought to have consented.

She saw the placard in front of the book-store, "You can get 'That Husband of Mine' for half a dollar," and as she passed on she muttered "I have one I will sell for half that much."

There will have to be a marked change in the tendency of things or our stylish young ladies will get to wearing their hats so far back that they will have to remove them when they sit down.

It is thought that Brigham Young ought to have recovered from his cholera morbus, but when it came to fighting with twenty seven women, each one with a different kind of mustard plaster for her dear husband, and a new kind of herb tea, it was too much for him. Every woman laid her plaster where there was room, and the prophet went down to his grave like a sandwich.

The following are two stanzas of a song which is very popular among the colored worshippers of Charlottesville, and which is often sung at revivals:

"I shake the dus' off ob my feet,
An' walk barefoot on the golden street,
I know my hide's chuk full of sin,
But I know old Pete will let me in."

CHORUS.

"Den rise, children, up in a crowd,
An' shout an' sing to the angels loud;
An' fix your eyes on de lan' of rest,
Kase hell am hot as a hornet's nest."

Brief Course in Geography.

We have just issued a new book in the study of geography, namely Monteith's Elementary Geography. This book is destined to become at once popular among educators. It has been carefully and thoroughly prepared, new type, new cuts, new maps, NEW PLAN. It is without question, the most beautiful text book in elementary geography ever printed.

In connection with the Comprehensive Geography, already so well and favorably known, it makes our new independent course complete in two books.

THE COMPREHENSIVE GEOGRAPHY.

Contains the following facilities for teaching geography found in no other series:

1. Relief maps, or bird's eye views of the surface. See pages 18, 35, 48.
2. Comparative latitudes, taught by representing distant countries on the margins of the maps. See pages 16, 23, 30.
3. Comparative areas, are taught by representing states, countries, etc., as drawn on a map of Kansas, which is used as a common measure. See pages 28, 64, 67.
4. Reference maps of important countries in Europe.
5. A map of Palestine, useful in Sunday schools. Page 79.
6. Map drawing (Allen's system) on a uniform scale throughout the book.
7. Topical geography, useful for reviews and the examination of classes.
8. A tour in Europe, describing route, with places and objects of interest.
9. Globe segments, beautifully engraved and colored, from which every pupil may construct a globe for himself. An exceedingly attractive and practical feature.

10. A short historical sketch immediately following the physical and descriptive geography of each country. See pages 19, 57 and 62. Besides these, the book contains one-third more maps than any other school geography. It contains 102 pages.

Price of Elementary Mailing, 75c; Introduction, 41c; Exchange, 33c

Price of Comprehensive Mailing, $1.37; Introduction, 82c; Exchange, 66.

If change is contemplated don't fail to see these books.

H. F. LAWRENCE, Ogdensburg, N. Y., our general agent for this section will send to teachers and school officers, for examination, with a view to introduction, copies of either of these geographies free of charge.

WATSON'S INDEPENDENT READERS.

Not equalled by any corresponding series in the United States.

First Reader, 80 pp., mailing price, 22c; introduction price 14c; exchange price 11c.
 Second Reader, 160 pp., mailing price 44c; introduction price 26c; exchange price 21c.
 Third Reader, 240 pp., mailing price 62c; introduction price 38c; exchange price 30c.
 Fourth Reader, 284 pp., mailing price 87c; introduction price 52c; exchange price 42c.
 Fifth Reader, 336 pp., mailing price $1.12; introduction price 68c; exchange price 54c.
 Sixth Reader, 474 pp., mailing price $1.25; introduction price 75c; exchange price 60c.
 The Sixth Reader is needed only for advanced classes.

National Elementary Speller, mailing price 22c; introduction price 14c; exchange price 10c.

National Pronouncing Speller, mailing price 44c; introduction price 26c; exchange 20c.

POINTS OF SUPERIORITY.

The word system, phonetics and object lessons are most successfully combined in the First Reader.

The system of pronunciation, peculiar to this series, is simpler and more comprehensive and effective, than any heretofore in use.

The elocutionary instruction of the lower books is presented in the practical form of conversational reading lessons, which are illustrated and otherwise made attractive.

Blackboard diagrams are employed in the elocutionary treatise of each of the higher numbers of the Series, which exhibit the different divisions of the subject, and their relations to each other.

The readings were adopted with reference to fitness, permanent interest, the value of the information they afford, and their effects in the formation of character.

The foot notes, which give definitions, biographical sketches, and all other needful aids, are followed by a complete index.

The illustrations, paper, printing binding, etc., are not surpassed in any Series of Readers.

Strictly Websterian markings, teaching the nature and power of the letters, are used throughout the series.

How can pupils read what they do not understand? The Independent Reader contains 2,445 explanatory foot notes, not found in any other series.

The rapid sale and introduction of these books, since published, is unsurpassed in the history of school books.

The above prices will not be increased in the next five years, but will probably be reduced.

H. F. Lawrence, Ogdensburg, will send copies for examination, with a view to introduction, to teachers and school officers free of charge.

THE YOUTH'S IDEAL.

From the rudely-fashion'd lattice
I would gaze when but a child,
Past the home-scenes all about me,
To the something far and wild:
I would lose me in the shadows
Of the gloaming dim and strange,
Straining hard to see still further
Than the eyesight's narrow range.

It was not the orchard closes,
Not the brooklet tinkling near.
Not the meadows slumbering round me—
No, my fancy staid not here:
It was not the sun-gilt turret,
Nor the old hall through its trees,
It was not the time-stain'd steeple—
No, it was not one of these;

But those distant, distant mountains,
As a bank of wild blue waves,
Breaking on the far horizon
'Mid the sunset's coral caves;
Those eternal mystic highlands,
Where I kindled so devoutly
Childhood's sacrifice of thought.

Parted from that cottage lattice,
O'er the wide world now I roam,
But I love, from life's stern uplands,
To look back upon my home:
To that dear familiar prospect
We turn back from age and care,
To old faces and old fancies,
And the happy days that were.

MISCELLANY

Ninety Days Without Food.

Mary Mason, of Western Virginia, adds another to the well authenticated instances of human existence prolonged for considerable periods without food. In a fit of melancholy she for several days refused food, and, after discovering that abstinence had no apparent effect on her physical condition, her friends ceased to urge it upon her.
She has now existed ninety days without a particle of food. Her case has been the marvel of the Blue Ridge region.

A book publisher's advertise-it had a needle with thirty-two exclamation points are the only punctuation she will condescend to use in a whole stickful of matter."

THE INCORPORATION.

Some four years have elapsed since we commenced agitating the subject of incorporating our village, and to-day we have been fully paid for our labors, as the vote taken shows a majority of over two to one in favor of having our village incorporated. We have always contended that we were a business energetic people, and now we have taken the right step in the right direction. Had we the benefit of a good water power, we would be second to none in the county. The next step for us to take is to attend the charter election when called, and see that men of worth and ability are elected to office, and then those who fear large taxes will have their interests in judicious hands

The subject of party ought never to come into consideration in our village matters, and we trust that our people will be wise enough to look for men instead of party, and if that course is taken we fear not the result, and the general appearance of our town will well pay expenses.

Gouverneur Has Another Fire--Hermon Outstripped--We Give Up the Silver Ball and Bat--Take it Your Welcome.

Before the fire of October 6th, a person from Hermon could not go to Gouverneur without having to answer questions like these: "Had another fire in Hermon yet?" "When are you going to have another fire?" and many others of a like character, but now Hermon no longer stands at the head. Gouverneur has entirely outstripped us, and we are obliged to surrender over the "silver ball and bat" which we do willingly. But, for all, you have our heartfelt sympathies.

THE FORSAKEN.

It has been said, "For all who die
There is a tear;
Some pining, bleeding heart to sigh
O'er every bier;"
But in that hour of pain and dread
Who will draw near
Around my humble couch and shed
One farewell tear?
Who'd watch life's last parting ray
In deep despair,
And soothe my spirit on its way
With holy prayer?
What mourner 'round my bier will come
In weeds of woe,
And follow me to my long home
Solemn and slow?
When lying on my clayey bed
In icy sleep,
Who there by pure affection led
Will come and weep;
By the pale moon implant the rose
Upon my breast,
And bid it cheer my dark repose,
My lonely rest?
Could I but know when I am sleeping
Low in the ground,
One faithful heart would there be keeping
Watch all night round,
As if some gem lay shined beneath
That sod's cold gloom,
'Twould mitigate the pangs of death
And light the tomb.
Yes! in that hour if I could feel
From halls of glee
And beauty's presence one would steal
In secrecy,
And come and sit and weep by me
In night's deep noon,
Oh! I would ask of memory
No other boon.
But, ah! a lonelier fate is mine,
A deeper woe;
From all I loved in youth's sweet time
I soon must go,
Drawn 'round me my robes of white
In a dark spot
To sleep through death's long dreamless
'Lone and forgot. [night,

A Danbury schoolmaster requested one of the girls in his grammar class to decline John. She said she'd think about it.

"Have you Blasted Hopes?" asked a young lady of a librarian with a handkerchief tied over his jaw. "No, ma'am," said he; "its only a blasted toothache."

Josh Billings says, "I have often been told that the best way is to take a bull by the horns; but I think in many instances, I should prefer the tail hold."

"I am speaking," said a long-winded orator, "for the benefit of posterity." "Yes," said one of his hearers, "and if you keep on much longer, your audience will be here."

A gentleman at an evening party in the Far West, observing another gentleman eying his umbrella, stopped the proceeding thus: "You handle that umbrella, you touch that umbrella, you even look at that umbrella, and I'll ram it down your throat—and then spread it!"

A Michigan schoolmaster says: "I will spel enny man woman or child in the hull state fur a dickshunary, or kash priz of one hundred dollars a side, the money to be awarded by a kommittee of clergymen or skool direktors. There has been a darned site of blowin about my spellin, and now i want them to put me up or to shet up: I wont be put down by a passel of ignaramusses because i differ with noah webster's stile of spellin."

ELECTION NOV. 6th.

Before the next issue of the ADVERTISER another election will be held in the Empire State, to which all eyes of the nation are turned, and anxiously waiting the result, for no state holds a greater political influence than does that of New York. Hence the great importance attached to the use of the ballots at the polls on the 6th of November.

What is the great difference between the two great political parties of to-day? Nominally nothing. Both pretend to be filled with principles of purity, and actuated by the best of motives; yet both have corruption within, and are filled with dead men's bones to a greater or less extent, and this is not surprising when we consider that even within our churches there are bad men; men who are not worthy the consideration of the christian world.

How are we to rid the political organization of the vast amount of bad faith now within their ranks? By every honest woman of the country attending the election and speaking through the medium of the ballot for honest men; men of worth and ability. We are to apt to support party, whether it has put in nomination the best men or not. We earnestly entreat every one to go to the polls early and get your neighbor to go, and vote for men of your party if you have the best men, and if you have not, look at the different candidates, study their lives and characters and vote understandingly. There is not enough now in dispute between parties to hold a man to it unless they will nominate the best men.

AUTUMN WILD FLOWERS

The Autumn sun is shining,
Gray mists are on the hill;
A russet tint is on the leaves,
But flowers are blooming still!
Still bright in wood and meadow,
On moorlands dry and brown;
By little streams, by rivers broad,
On every breezy down.

The little flowers are smiling,
With chilly dew-drops wet,
Are saying with a spirit voice,
"We have not vanished yet."

"No, though the Spring be over,
Though Summer's strength be gone,
Though Autumn's wreath be garnered
And winter cometh on,

"Still we have not departed,
We linger to the last,
And e'en on early Winter's brow
A cheerful ray will cast!"

Go forth, then, youths and maidens
Be joyful while you may;
Go forth, then, child and mother,
And toiling men grown gray!

Go forth, though ye be humble,
And wan with toil and care;
There are no fields so barren
But some sweet flower is there!

Flowers spring by the highway
Which busy feet have trod;
They rise up in the dreariest wood;
They gem the dullest sod.

They need no learned gardeners
To nurture them with care;
They only need the dews of earth,
The sunshine and the air:

And for earth's lowly children,
For loving hearts and good,
They spring up all around us,
They will not be subdued.

Thank God, that with the thistle
That sprang up in his toil,
The weary worker, Adam,
Saw roses gem the soil!

And still for anxious workers,
For hearts with anguish full,
Life, even on its dreariest paths,
Has flowers for them to cull.

What does every one thirst after?—A red-herring.

The only pain of which every one makes light—A window pane.

Bob Ingersoll firmly believes to this day that the pillars pulled down by Sampson were caterpillars.

A little girl was asked: "What is faith?" She replied: "Doing God's will, and asking no questions."

When you tell a friend he has a level head, please remember that a Digger Indian is distinguished in the same way.

A barefooted little boy stepped on a bee, and soon after remarked to his mother: "Ma, I didn't know that bees had splinters in their tails!"

The man who has been looking for a sea serpent all summer has returned and is looking for an oyster in a church fair stew.

A lady, on being separated from her husband, changed her religion, being determined, she said, to avoid his company in this world and the next.

An American tourist says that a San Domingo revolution consists of "a few yells, three or four hoots, some one accidentally wounded, and come home, darling—all is forgiven."

The humblest can do something toward making the local paper interesting. If you cannot run away with another man's wife, or be a defaulting bank clerk, you can at least step on a watermelon rind and sprain your ear.

EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR.

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 17TH, 1877.

THERE has been a series of meetings in session the past week at the Methodist church in this place.

ALL should remember the lecture by the popular humorist Josh Billings, in the Town Hall, Potsdam, Nov. 28th. Mr. Billings takes his final leave of the platform this season, and this is the last opportunity the people of this county will have to see and hear this popular man.

THERE will be a Grand Entertainment at Cline's Hall, Hermon N. Y., Friday evening Nov. 30th, 1877, under the auspices of the Universalist Society, for the purpose of raising funds to purchase an organ. The entertainment will consist of Vocal and Instrumental Music, and Dramatic Plays. A drama entitled, "The Seven Clerks" or, "The Three Thieves and the Denouncer," will be presented, followed by the very laughable farce, entitled, "The Two Bonacastles." No pains will be spared to make this entertainment worthy the patronage of all.

THE Hermon Cornet Band will also give an entertainment at Cline's Hall, Thursday evening, Dec. 13th, consisting of Music, Dramas &c, the programmes for which will be circulated in due season.

RUSSELL has been routing a den of thieves that have been doing quite a business in the stealing line, in that, and adjoining towns. Four have taken up their abode at the Crow-bar Hotel, of Canton, for from 40 to 60 days. Sixty days in jail will go a great way in the work of reform, but it does seem as though that was "drawing it rather mild." We understand there are others that have spoken for rooms at the same place.

MY EARLY HOME.

BY C. E. A.

When late I stood upon the spot,
Where childhood's waveless stream had flown,
And found myself by all forgot,
Who in the days gone by had known,
I thought how change must o'er us creep,
And brush our former selves away,
And as I mused, I paused to weep,
That even friendship might decay.

I heard a stranger claim the soil,
Where once my father drove the plow,
I've watched him daily at his toil,
Where stranger hands are working now.
Methought the sunbeams were less bright
That less of fragrance filled the air,
The harvest sheaves looked far more light,
Than those collected by his care.

And other children's merry glee,
Came ringing from the old house door,
Where gathering at our mother's knee,
We oft had played in days of yore.
But the companions of those days
Are scattered now—the world is wide,
They each have taken separate ways,
And sailed away upon the tide.

I feel that what of life is past,
Is better than the part to come,
Let memory cherish to the last,
Remembrance of my early home.
There's many a lesson yet to learn,
Of life's philosophy, I know,
But still my thoughts shall often turn
To childhood's home where'er I go.

MISCELLANY

VANDYKE is the sixth convicted of murder in this county since its organization in 1805. Five have been hung and one died before the time set for his execution.

Spring openings—rat traps. Fall openings—chestnut burrs.

The best throw-of dice—Throw them away.

If you don't want to be robbed of your good name, do not have it painted on your umbrella.

Weary person on evening visit—"Aw, I'm just out of a sick bed." Terrible Boy—"Say, Mr. Johnson, what ails yer bed?"

During a thunderstorm two dogs that howled dismally at night were struck by lightning and killed. Howling dogs should cut this out and paste it in their hats.

"There is no rule without an exception, my son." "Oh, isn't there, pa? A man must always be present when he is being shaved." "My dear," said pa to ma, "hadn't you better send this child to bed?"

"I say, boy, is that the fire?" asked a gentleman of a ragged urchin, and pointing to a dense volume of smoke that was issuing from the windows of a ware-house. "No, sir, that is only the smoke," replied the boy.

On a railway line, recently, a passenger stopped the conductor and asked, "Why does not the train run faster?" "It goes fast enough to suit us. If you don't like the rate of speed get off and walk," was the rejoinder. "I would," replied the passenger, settling back in his seat, "but my friends wouldn't come for me until the train got in, and I don't want to be waiting around the station two or three hours."

The entertainment by the Hermon Cornet Band, advertised to have been held the 13th of this month, was postponed on account of the near approach of the Holidays, till the 16th of January 1878, at which time will be produced a play entitled, "One Hundred Years Ago," also a farce entitled, "A Sea of Troubles." There will also be Instrumental Music, consisting of Duets, Quartets, Solos etc.

Nothing will be left undone that will make this entertainment a success. At the time our band was organized, now about a year ago, it was prophesied by many that it was only throwing money away, as the band would "bust up" before a year passed by. We have run so far without calling upon the citizens for much support, and now we ask you to give us a good house thereby showing us you have some interest in our welfare.

A MEMBER.

The Anthem Class of this place will give an entertainment shortly after the band entertainment which promises to be the grandest thing of the day. They are now practicing some very fine pieces, and we doubt not their ability to produce them. This is an organization as well as the band, that should receive the support of our people. What is more pleasing to the ear than music? Why do we patronize traveling concerns, not one in ten of which is worth listening too, when we can pay our money to home talent, so that it not only keeps the money in the place, but will help to build up organizations that we may, ere long, point to with pride.

You can buy some Christmas presents cheaper at J. K. & K. W. Hale's than any other place in town.

THE reason why the crowd go to Lynde's is that he has the largest stock, just what you want, and his prices are way down to the bottom. His prices insure sales every time.

It may be news to some of our readers to know that it is a violation of the law to bring benches or movable chairs into the aisles of a church or any crowded assembly. A person is liable to a heavy fine that is guilty of such an offence.

VANDYKE's counsel D. Magone, did everything in his power to procure a commutation of his sentence, from Gov. Robinson, but without success, and yesterday he paid the penalty of his fearful crime.
