Star Cream Separator

For a long time it has been known that by adding to new milk a like quantity of cold water, the cream will rise in a comparatively short time. This method of separating the cream from the milk is being very generally adopted since it has been fully proven that you get ALL THE CREAM, and make the BEST OF BUTTER. By contracting for a large number I am able to sell a very superior one for about ONE-HALF THE PRICE that is generally charged for a much poorer one.

Roofing Material.

I have a full stock of felt roofing, prepared for this northern country, which for cheapness and durability is far ahead of any other roof you can put on. It can be used over shingles, or on a flat roof with good results. Come and see us before putting on your roof.

Oct. 8, 1901.
Mr. A. J. Phillips, Norwood, N. Y.
Dear Sir—I have had six bottles of your Famous Rheumatic Cure. I took five bottles and my husband took one, and we would like to take more of it. I sent for six bottles more by the lady who brought me the first, but she is sick in bed and cannot attend to it, so I write to ask for the agency of it, as there are so many here who would like to try it, as it has done me so much good. When I began to take your Rheumatic Cure I couldn't walk only as I pushed a chair, and was in such pain that I couldn't lie down in bed at night. Now I am doing all my housework, washing included, and can walk as well as ever, yet I don't feel that I am quite cured. Over four years ago I began to suffer with lumbago and rheumatism of the muscles. I began to employ doctors and buy liniment, that cost me a good many dollars. But I never got any help until I took the Famous A. J. P. Rheumatic Cure. I feel grateful for what it has done for me that I cannot help but recommend it to all I see suffering with rheumatism.

Should you care to have me become your agent write me what a dozen bottles will cost, for which I will send you the money.

Very truly yours,
MRS. CELESTIA GORE,
Box 261, DeKalb Junction, N. Y.

ISTHMUS TRANSIT OPEN

Good Work by Commander McLean Along Panama Railroad.

KEEPING TRAINS GUARDED.

According to Panama Adverses, There Has Been No Friction Between Our Bluejackets and the Colombian Troops.

Washington, Sept. 22.—The navy department is in receipt of the following cablegram from Commander McLean of the cruiser Cincinnati, dated Colón: "The United States guards and guarantees traffic and the line of transit. I have permitted the exchange of Colombian troops from Panama to Colón, about 1,000 men each way, the troops without arms, in train guarded by American naval force in the same manner as other passengers; arms and ammunition in separate train guarded also by naval force in the same manner as other freight."

Press dispatches that have been received from Panama convey the following information:

As far as can be learned in Panama there has been no friction whatever between soldiers of the Colombian government and the American bluejackets who are guarding the railroad line.

The government ordered its soldiers to place obstacles on the railroad track in order to aid in stopping the trains, which measure was taken to prevent the revolutionists from boarding trains and surprising the garrison at Panama or Colón, as they did in 1901. Commander McLean of the United States cruiser Cincinnati complained of this measure to General Salazar, commander of the government forces on the Isthmus.

Salazar's Response.

To this complaint General Salazar replied that he would attend to the matter and ordered his soldiers to cease placing such obstacles. It seems these orders were misinterpreted at Colón, where Commander McLean saw an obstacle placed on the railroad track. Two soldiers who stopped a train to inspect it at Monkey Hill, just outside of Colón, acted without superior orders and are reported to have been severely punished for so doing by General Ferrán. It was after this occurrence that Commander McLean declared the traffic over the isthmus to have been interrupted and decided to place American guards on the trains.

Commander McLean sent communications to the Colombian government and to the insurgent general Herrera in which he said in part:

"No armed men except naval forces of the United States will be allowed on or to use the railroad line."

This declaration that the railroad could not be used for transportation of armed government troops has created resentment in conservative circles, where it is considered as an attack upon Colombia's sovereignty rights on the Isthmus. General Salazar declines to express any opinion on the subject.

WAR NOTES

If the way to a man's heart lies through his stomach there must be a branch road, leading to his bile, where many a love-freighted cargo gets side-tracked and wrecked.

No man can be happy with his stomach in insurrection.

Poor bread cannot be loaded into any man's stomach with impunity.

No housewife can make good bread from poor flour.

We sell good flour—the best flour that can be made.

Properly used our flour means good bread, a contented stomach and a happy man.

Our flour puts it up to the cook.

What might have been a more serious accident, happened to one of our popular druggists, Mr. Jas. E. Robinson, last Sunday. While Mr. Robinson was picking green corn on the farm of S. H. CUT HIS THROAT FOR LOVE.

Newton Conklin, Aged 22, Has Serious Self-Inflicted Injuries.

Gouverneur, Sept. 20.—Newton Conklin, proprietor of Osbornville cheese factory, cut his throat Friday night from ear to ear in an attempt to commit suicide. He was found in the road about an hour after, bleeding copiously but in a conscious condition. David Hurlburt was returning from attending church service when he found Conklin and took him home.

Conklin is 22 years old and has been proprietor of Osbornville cheese factory for the past two years. He is a son of Grafton Conklin, a well-to-do farmer of the North Gouverneur district. Young Conklin returned from Canton fair Tuesday night, and at that time was in good condition physically apparently.

Dr. Allen, of Richville, was summoned and later Dr. Hawley, of Gouverneur. Clutched in Conklin's hand when found was a razor. It was found on examination that the wound was a very serious one but one which will probably not prove fatal. The windpipe and arteries of the neck were not severed. It is asserted on good authority that the young man attempted to take his life on account of a disappointment which he experienced in a love affair with a young woman residing near his home.

Clark-Booth.

One of the most happy events that Hermon has seen in many a day occurred at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Booth, in this village, Sept. 23, at 2 p. m. when their only daughter Lela Blanché became the wife of Clinton King Clark of Earlville, N. Y.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. E. S. Cheeseman of Theresa, N. Y., beneath a canopy of vines on either side and embellished with the rarest of plants in full bloom, all a emingly vieing with the glow and beauty of this happy couple. Upon the table near by were spread an elaborate and beautiful display of presents—emblems of the good wishes of the bride and groom's many friends; and furnishing a rich and elegant outfit well becoming the splendid pair.

There were gathered a house full of their friends, including the mother of the groom, also Miss Clark and Miss Rollins of Canton, N. Y., together with the brides many relatives and friends in this vicinity.

The happy couple departed on the 4:20 train for Montreal and other Canadian points on their bridal journey. They will be at home in Clayton, N. Y., after October 1st.

Poorly?

"For two years I suffered terribly from dyspepsia, with great depression, and was always feeling poorly. I then tried Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and in one week I was a new man."—John McDonald, Philadelphia, Pa.

Don't forget that it's "Ayer's" Sarsaparilla that will make you strong and hopeful. Don't waste your time and money by trying some other kind. Use the old, tested, tried, and true Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

Ask your doctor what he thinks of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He knows all about this grand old family medicine. Follow his advice and we will be satisfied.

A Good Way.

Newspaper advertising can be gotten in one way certainly, and that way is to demonstrate to the man in business who has something to advertise that through the pages of the newspaper is one way he can sell what he has to offer. As soon as an advertiser finds that advertising pays him, it needs no philosophy or argument to convert him to expend money for advertising. The quickest way to get advertising for a newspaper is to show the town merchants and the business men that it does pay him to advertise in a newspaper. The quickest way to show him that it will pay him to advertise in the local paper is to handle that paper in a manner that his advertising will pay him.—Western Publisher.

A View of the World.

It is true that the gentle old soul who stands out in soft relief below lived in the seventeenth century, but the charm of simplicity and enthusiasm cannot be outworn by time.

She lived in the Peak country of Devonshire, England, and had never been out of her native village till somebody took her to the summit of one of the hills which rise far above Edale. There she could view a stretch of country reaching away for many miles. Her heart and mind sprang up with rapture.

"I tell thee what," she cried, "I never, never thought the world were big as this!"

Sacred Birds.

This involves no irreverence to sport, but merely recapitulates a few of the birds which in different countries have been and are invested with a sort of popular reverence, acting as a protection. In Paris, the sparrow, all objections notwithstanding, remains the pet of the populace, and legislative protection is only just beginning to safeguard the swallow. In Alsace, Basle and Germany the stork sits enshrined in popular respect, not to say superstition, while in Egypt the sparrowhawk holds sway and atones for his predatory instincts by acting as a licensed scavenger.—Paris Nature.

PRESIDENT OPERATED ON

He Was Suffering From an Abscess, Result of Pittsfield Accident.

THE WESTERN TRIP ABANDONED

The Wound Made Surgical Treatment Necessary—No Serious Results Looked For—Operation Performed at St. Vincent's Hospital in Indianapolis—Serum Removed From the Site.

Indianapolis, Ind.—President Roosevelt underwent a surgical operation in St. Vincent's Hospital in this city for an abscess which resulted from an injury he received in his recent accident in Pittsfield, Mass., and the continuation of his tour through the Northwest has been abandoned.

The news came with thrilling suddenness, when the announcement first was made that instead of proceeding upon his journey to Fort Wayne and Milwaukee, the Executive himself had determined to cancel all his dates, at once enter the hospital, and the operation over, return to Washington.

The operation took place at 3:45 o'clock, and lasted only a short time. Then he was taken to a private room in the hospital to rest. After taking a light meal at 7:30 o'clock he was conveyed on a stretcher to his train, which had been backed up on a "Y" near the hospital, and at 7:50 o'clock the train left for Washington.

After this operation Secretary Cortelyou gave out this official statement: "At 3:15 p. m. the President went from the Columbia Club to St. Vincent's Hospital in his own carriage, and shortly after he was in the hospital the operation required was performed by Dr. George H. Oliver, of Indianapolis, in consultation with the President's physician, Dr. George A. Luag, and Dr. George J. Cook, Dr. Henry Jameson and Dr. J. Richardson, son. At the conclusion of the operation the physicians authorized the following statement: "As a result of the traumatism (bruise) received in the trolley accident at Pittsfield, Mass., there was found to be a circumscribed collection of perfectly pure serum in the middle third of the left anterior tibial region, the size containing about two ounces, which was removed. "The indications are that the President should make speedy recovery. It is absolutely imperative, however, that he should remain quiet and refrain from using the leg. The trouble is not serious, but temporarily disabling. "GEORGE B. CORTELYOU." President Roosevelt all along has appeared to be in his usual health, and the first intimation that the members of his party had that he was suffering from any injury was when Secretary Cortelyou at the conclusion of the Columbia Club speech, which the President delivered before 15,000 people, gave out this official statement: "As a result of the trolley accident at Pittsfield, Mass., the President received several serious bruises. One of these, on the left leg between the knee and ankle, has developed into a small abscess. The President is entirely well otherwise, and has continued to meet the several engagements of his itinerary, but in view of the continuation of the abscess and but of an abundance of caution, Drs. Oliver and Cook, of Indianapolis, were requested to meet Dr. Luag, the President's surgeon, at Indianapolis, Dr. Richardson, of Washington, D. C., being also one of the number. "In the opinion of the doctors, the trouble necessitates an operation, which they think should be performed at once at St. Vincent's Hospital in this city. As, after the operation, the President will require entire rest, probably for at least ten days or two weeks, it has been necessary to cancel all the remaining engagements of his trip, and he will go directly from Indianapolis to Washington. "The physicians say that the case is not in any way serious and that there is no danger whatever. This statement is made so that no false rumors may disturb the people and that they may be authoritatively advised of the exact nature of the case. "GEORGE B. CORTELYOU."

Seven More Forts Captured.

The force commanded by Captain John J. Pershing, of the Fifteenth Infantry, operating against the Moros in the Island of Mindanao, P. I., met with slight resistance and has captured seven forts, killed twenty-five and wounded twenty Moros. There were no American casualties.

Killed His Child and Himself.

After abducting his two-year-old son from the mother, Harry O. Williams killed the child and himself at Springfield, Ill.

Private Frank R. Metz, of Company I, Seventh Infantry, who recently returned from one year's service at St. Michael, Alaska, was surprised when a lawyer arrived at the Presidio, San Francisco, Cal., and gave him a check for $12,000. Metz says he will ask for his discharge. Italians Slain in a Riot. In a riot at Berryburg, W. Va., three Italians were killed and one badly wounded.

the carriage in the trolley collision at Pittsfield. All the others healed up and passed away gradually. This one was carefully examined at the time, and it was believed to be nothing more serious than a bruise, for which the only treatment required was the application of liniment.

The pain only developed at Detroit. At Indianapolis it was severe. The bruise was black and blue and large as a man's hand. No real abscess was found, the physicians say. It was pure serum, two ounces of which was removed from the leg. In another twenty-four hours this serum would have become pus and an abscess would have formed. This might have spread and blood-poisoning ensued.

When the President was on the operating table his bruise was sprayed with ether to deaden the pain. The President felt the pain of the puncture, notwithstanding the ether, but he made no complaint.

The President's leg was palmed with iodine after the operation and washed a half dozen times with carbolic solutions. Then the leg was bound with tight bandages so as to keep it rigid.

PRESIDENT RESTS EASILY.

Regrets That He Was Compelled to Abandon His Western Trip.

Richmond, Ind.—President Roosevelt's train arrived here at 9:45 p. m. The President was resting easily and the wound on his leg shows no immediate effects of the short trip from the hospital to the train at Indianapolis.

On the contrary, the President suffered less pain than he has for several days. He spent the time during the run here in reading. He was cheerful and lying in bed with his leg propped up on a pillow.

The President regrets exceedingly that he has been compelled to abandon his trip. He has received a large number of telegrams of condolence.

Mrs. Roosevelt Notified.

Oyster Bay, L. I.—The first news of the indisposition of President Roosevelt reached here came as a rumor from New York City. Shortly afterward the President's office in the bank building received the statement of Secretary Cortelyou by wire, and at the same time a telegram was received for Mrs. Roosevelt. She was absent from home at the time, and did not return until almost dark. The message assured her there was nothing alarming about the operation. Mrs. Roosevelt was later kept informed as to her husband's condition. She then decided to go to Washington on the following day, so that she could be with her husband during his indisposition.

Sympathy in London.

They express considerable surprise at the unexpectedness of the operation, as well as sympathy for the President, although it is believed to be a trifling matter, and Secretary Cortelyou's reassuring statement is readily accepted.

Regret in Nebraska.

Lincoln, Neb.—Nebraska Republicans express much regret at the inability of the President to complete his Western trip. It is regarded as a serious derangement to campaign plans in this State.

TRUE TO HER DEAD SWEETHEART.

Marriage Was Prevented by Relatives, But Couple Were Devoted.

New York City.—The death of Eliza Ann Partridge, which occurred a few days ago, ended a romance dating back half a century. Miss Partridge was born in Pomfret, Conn., in 1814. When about sixteen years old she came to this city and soon fell in love with Henry Hall Ward. Both families objected to a marriage on account of the consanguinity, and it did not take place. Both persisted in maintaining the engagement, and lived almost as much for each other as though they had been wedded up to the time of Ward's death in 1872.

Ward died of consumption at Saratoga, and Miss Partridge was with him at the end. His house contained valuable paintings. This house, together with two others, he left by the will as a life trust to Miss Partridge.

Miss Partridge always regarded the house as a sacred place. She never lived in it herself, but hired caretakers to keep everything as it had been left. She visited the house daily for twenty years and more, and refused admission to all other persons.

With the death of Miss Partridge the three houses revert to the estate of Ward.

KILLS FATHER TO PROTECT MOTHER

Young Man Then Puts on His Best Clothes and Waits For Police.

Woodscock, R. I.—To protect his mother from violent treatment at the hands of her husband, and also because he thought his own life was in danger, William C. Bonin, twenty years old, shot and killed his father, John B. Bonin. The tragedy occurred at the factory boarding house, of which his father was proprietor, at Slatersville, North Smithfield. Five small children of the family witnessed it.

After the shooting young Bonin went to his room, put on his best clothes and waited until the officer who had been called by his mother, came for him. In the district court here he pleaded not guilty to a charge of assault with a dangerous weapon with intent to kill, and was held in $5,000 bail for his appearance on October 4.

TARIFF REVISION NO REMEDY

President's Declaration in a Speech on Trusts at Cincinnati.

WANTS CONSTITUTION CHANGED

President Roosevelt Believes That in Corbing the Trust Evil Much Can Be Done Even Without a Constitutional Amendment—Thinks Supervision Must Come Through Wisely Framed Laws.

Cincinnati, Ohio.—President Roosevelt in a speech before a vast audience that filled the great Music Hall to the doors, while hundreds stood outside, reiterated his advocacy of Governmental control of trusts, and condemned the proposal to revise the tariff as a remedy for trust evils.

The President in opening took up the matter of trusts immediately, and for a time followed the lines of his recent speech at Wheeling, W. Va.

The trusts, he said, had produced both good and evil. They were inevitable, and the country could not get rid of them. Continuing the President said: "The evils attendant upon capitalization alone are, in my judgment, sufficient to warrant a far closer supervision and control than now exists over the great corporations. "Whenever a substantial monopoly can be shown to exist we should certainly try our utmost to devise an expedient by which it can be controlled. "It would be neither just nor expedient to punish the big corporations as big corporations. What we wish to do is to protect the people from any evil that may grow out of their existence or maladministration. Some of these corporations do well and others do ill. "If in any case the tariff is found to foster a monopoly which does ill, why, of course, no protectionist would object to a modification of the tariff sufficient to remedy the evil. "Furthermore, the products of many trusts are unprotected, and would be entirely unaffected by any change in the tariff, or at most very slightly so. "The Standard Oil Company offers a case in point, and the corporations which control the anthracite coal output offer another, for there is no duty whatever on anthracite coal. "Without regard to the wisdom of any one of these three positions, it remains true that the real evils connected with the trusts cannot be remedied by any change in the tariff laws. The immediate introduction of substantial free trade in all articles manufactured by trusts—that is, by the largest and most successful corporations—would not affect some of the most powerful of our business combinations in the least, save by the damage done to the general business welfare of the country. "The necessary supervision and control in which I firmly believe is the only method of eliminating the real evils of the trusts must come through wisely and cautiously framed legislation, which shall aim, in the first place, to give definite control to some sovereign over the great corporations, and which shall be followed, when once this power has been conferred, by a system giving to the Government the full knowledge which is essential for satisfactory action. "The celebration over President Roosevelt's visit came near being marred by a panic and great loss of life. After the President had been speaking to 8000 persons about fifteen minutes there was a great commotion in Mechanical Hall, adjacent to Music Hall on the north. The sparks from an electric wire had set a curtain on fire and the Fire Department had been called to the scene. The police and attendants soon put out the fire, but they had much trouble in controlling the alarmed crowd. Only with difficulty did Captain J. B. Parker, son of the Senator, prevent the Fire Department from rushing into the building. Happily one of the bands struck up, and those who left the auditorium were supposed to be going out to stop the music. The auditorium was so crowded that a cry of fire or any panic would have caused a terrible catastrophe.

The President at Detroit.

Detroit, Mich.—For the second time in its history the City of the Straits has entertained the Chief Executive of the Nation. President Theodore Roosevelt arrived in the city over the Michigan Central Railroad. He found Detroit expectantly awaiting his arrival in gala attire.

It was a restful day for the President. At 10:30 o'clock he attended services in the Fort Street Presbyterian Church, dining from there to General A. Alger's residence, where he was entertained at luncheon. He returned to the Cadillac shortly after 5 o'clock, only to depart again in a short time for a drive about the city. He called at St. Mary's Hospital, in St. Antoine street, where Thomas K. Doherty, a local veteran of the Spanish War, is dying from consumption.

Doherty had expressed a wish to see the President, and General Alger heard of it. Accordingly, at luncheon, President Roosevelt was asked if he would call on Doherty in the hospital. The President answered that he would be delighted to do so. Doherty is unable to sit up, and the President remained at his bedside for several minutes chatting with him and expressing words of cheer and hope.

In the evening the President dined in the Flemish room of the Cadillac with a party of friends.

Colombian Rebels Warned That They Must Not Interfere With Traffic.

Fighting Will Not Be Allowed Along the Railroad Line—Action of Captain McClennan at Panama.

Colon, Colombia.—Captain McClennan of the United States cruiser Cincinnati sent a dispatch to Matanzas on a special train for transmission to General Herrera, informing the rebel General that the United States Navy had taken the direction of the Panama Railway from sea to sea, and that it would not permit any fighting along the line. Captain McClennan also notified the Colombian Government that a special train would be put at its disposal for the movement of troops. Following this announcement a special armored train left here for Panama. It was headed by an American guard and conveyed 750 Colombian soldiers. Captain McClennan landed 100 bluejackets from his ship, as trouble was expected. The bluejackets remained ashore for one hour and then returned to the warship. The marines expected on the Panther will be stationed on the section of Corogona, a village on the Isthmus, twenty miles northwest of Panama. A British warship has just arrived. The merchants of Bocas del Toro have sent a petition to the Consuls asking them to send troops for their protection. There are 2500 Colombian troops in Colon.

Panama, Colombia.—Captain McClennan, of the United States cruiser Cincinnati, while here on a short visit, said he has ample authority to act as he thinks best, and intends to use his authority whenever necessary. The American commander will not permit any interruption of railroad traffic, such as the placing of obstructions on the track. His relations with the Government officials up to the present time have been most cordial.

MRS. J. E. O'DONNELL

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have never in my life given a testimonial before, but I feel called upon to give you this unsolicited acknowledgment of the wonderful curative value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. For eight years I had female trouble, falling of the womb and other complications. During that time I was more or less of an invalid and not much good for anything, until one day I found a book in my hall telling of the cures you could perform. I became interested; I bought a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and was helped; I continued its use and in seven months was cured, and since that time I have had perfect health. Thanks, dear Mrs. Pinkham, again, for the health I now enjoy."—Mrs. JENNIE E. O'DONNELL, 278 East 31st St., Chicago, Ill.—55000 forth if above testimonial is genuine.

RIPANS

I was troubled with torpid liver for many years and was subject to dreadful headaches, which confined me to my bed once a week. A friend recommended Ripans Tablets. I did not have much faith, but he persuaded me to try them, and inside of three weeks I was a cured woman. On account of my age I hardly thought it possible to effect a cure, as I had been subject to those awful headaches since I was a little girl.

NEGROES KILLED IN A PANIC.

Birmingham, Ala.—In an awful crush of humanity caused by a stampede in the Shiloh Negro Baptist Church, at the corner of Avenue G and Eighteenth street, seventy-eight persons were killed and as many more seriously injured.

The disaster occurred just as Booker T. Washington had concluded his address to the National Convention of Negro Baptists, and for three hours the scenes around the church were almost indescribable. Dead bodies were strewn in every direction, and the ambulance service of the city was utterly unable to move them until long after midnight.

Shiloh Church is the largest place of worship for negroes in Birmingham, and at least 2000 persons were inside when the stampede began. Instructions had been issued to allow no one to enter after the building had been filled, but the negroes forced their way inside and were standing in every aisle when the cry of "Fight!" "Fight!" was mistaken for "Fire," and a deadly scramble began to get out. The entrance to the church was literally packed, and the negroes were trampled to death in their struggle to escape.

Most of the dead are women, and the physicians say in many cases they fainted and died from suffocation. A remarkable feature of the calamity is that little or no blood was seen on any of the victims. They were either crushed or were suffocated to death.

BROKE JAIL TO SEE HIS MOTHER.

Convicted Murderer Goes Home and Then Gives Himself Up.

Hinton, W. Va.—Edward H. Williams, who had been convicted of murder and was awaiting removal to the penitentiary to serve his sentence, broke out of jail, and after successfully working his way through the mountains to his old home at Princeton and bidding a pathetic farewell to his sick and aged mother, returned and gave himself up. He heard that his mother was ill, and fearing that he might never see her again if he was taken to the penitentiary, he ran the risk of an additional sentence to see her again.

The incident will form the basis of a petition for his pardon. The exploit has created much sympathy for him. He has been sentenced to twenty years' imprisonment for killing a companion, in a quarrel.

Belgian Queen Dies Suddenly.

Marie Henriette, Queen of the Belgians, died suddenly at Spa, Belgium. Neither her husband, members of her family nor Her Majesty's doctors were present at the time of her death. She was seated at a table eating a light dinner when she was seized with an attack of syncope. Two members of her suite were with the Queen during her last moments. King Leopold, upon being informed of the Queen's death, left Baginoyes-de-Luchon, France, for Spa. Queen Marie Henriette was a daughter of the late Archduke Joseph of Austria. She was born on August 23, 1836, and was married on August 22, 1853, to Prince Leopold of Belgium, son of King Leopold I, who ascended the throne at the death of his father as Leopold II, on December 10, 1865. The dead Queen was noted for her piety and charity. She had been ill for about three years of a malady of the heart, and of recent months her condition had been so serious that little hope of her recovery was entertained.

WILLIAM H. YOUNG CAUGHT

BREAKS DOWN AND CONFESSES

The Grandson of Brigham Young, the Mormon Leader, Lured a Woman to a Home, Drugged and Stabbed Her and Threw the Body into a Shallow Canal—His Capture and Confession.

Derby, Conn.—Several hours after William Hooper Young, the accused murderer of Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer, had admitted his identity, a copy of the cablegram sent by his father, John W. Young, from Paris, advising him to surrender, and declaring that his family would stand by him, was shown to Young. He read the message, and for the first time gave evidence of strong emotion. Tears rolled down his cheeks and he turned to the wall of his cell while he made a strong effort to repress his sobs. He refused to speak of the message afterward.

New York City—Admitting a guilty knowledge of the murder of Mrs. Anna Pulitzer, but shifting the actual commission of the crime on another man, William Hooper Young, grandson of the great disciple of Mormonism, consented to return to New York City without the formality of a requisition. He was captured in Derby, Conn., and denied his identity for twenty-four hours. Confronted with men who knew him well, and could not be mistaken, he broke down.

Then he made the startling statement that he had an accomplice who had drugged and killed the woman, and that he (Young) had packed her body in the trunk. No such man as he named is known, and the name is not in the directory.

That Young did not have any other companion than the woman when he went to his father's apartments, where the crime was committed, is shown by a cabman who drove them to the corner of Fifty-eighth street and Sixth avenue on the fatal night. He says there were but two persons in the cab, the man he supposes was Young and a woman who had two manilla bags—probably the buns and cakes which Mrs. Pulitzer left her house to buy. The cabman says they stopped at a drug store before going to the house.

Young blundered from the moment he lured Mrs. Anna Pulitzer into the apartments of his father in West Fifty-eighth street. If he killed the woman, alone or with the help of another, he blundered in hiring a horse and a wagon from a livery man to whom he gave references by which he could be traced; he blundered in casting the weighted body of his victim into a canal "cut," where it would be exposed at every ebb tide; he blundered in using the blood stained trunk in which the body was carried as the receptacle for his own clothing, and for the dirk with which she was killed, and then sending it to a Western city so openly that its discovery was inevitable. There was a bare chance that the very audacity of these acts might have given longer liberty to the fugitive, but Young made the error which was the capstone of all the others.

When Young disguised himself by shaving off his mustache and putting on a pair of mechanics' overalls, he believed himself safe for the time being at least. When he was arrested on suspicion he gave the name of "Bert" Edwards. This was not fictitious, but the actual name of a man known to Young, with whom he had quarreled in the West, and the history of which had been published broadcast. This gave the first suggestion that if the prisoner was really Edwards he would know something about Young. Then when the police came to search Young they found in one of his pockets a quantity of cayenne pepper.

When the trunk from Chicago with its ghastly contents was examined by Captain Titus he found in one corner a little paper bag of pepper. It was reasoned that if the prisoner in Derby was Bert Edwards, it was strange that besides having been connected with Young he should be carrying in his pocket material like that found in the trunk. Identification after that was easy. It was almost certain at 12 o'clock, but at 6 o'clock it was settled beyond doubt, and at 7 Young confessed.

The crime has been positively fixed upon Young by papers found in the trunk he sent to Chicago. Robbery, the police say, was the motive which prompted Young to commit the murder. On Tuesday he was in sore straits for money. According to the police he had come to the end of his rope. He would not work and had no way of getting money except by begging or robbery. He chose the latter method, say the police, and marked Mrs. Pulitzer as his victim when he saw her with flashing diamonds in Moeck's restaurant on Tuesday.

The most important link in the chain of evidence connecting Young with the murder was supplied when a dispatch was received from Chicago stating that the police had opened the trunk shipped by Young and had found in it the dead woman's clothing and a manilla bag containing the name of William Hooper Young. When the trunk reached this city it was opened by the police and found to contain a paper bag, containing cakes; a set of false teeth, upper, with one tooth broken off, as from a blow; two opera hats, two switches of blonde hair.

300 Fine For Swearing in a Telephone. Justice Dooley, of Chicago, recently decided that swearing into a telephone was disorderly conduct, and fined the offender $20. Now it is said that every offender of this kind will be prosecuted.

three shell hairpins, a pair of bloody men's gloves, which the police think were used in handling the body; a woman's black belt, a copy of a New York evening paper, which was covered with blood stains; some twine and rope used to tie the body; a pair of corsets, a pair of side garters, a black silk skirt and some underwear, a pair of trousers, damp, as if recently washed; a shirt, covered with blood; a man's coat, also wet as if washed; a package of red pepper, a woman's velvet waist, with polka dots, the inside smeared with blood; an eight-inch Chinese dirk, two pairs of men's shoes and one pair of women's shoes, the missing bedclothing, a suit of men's clothes, a gray flannel negligee shirt, with collar attached; a pocketbook containing papers, the nature of which the police decline to reveal, and a piece of wrapping paper.

The police, under Captain Schmittberger, made a thorough search of the apartments of Young's father, on West Fifty-eighth street, where the murder was committed, and discovered new stains and other evidence that Mrs. Pulitzer was first drugged and then killed. Young's flat is on the west side of the hall, on the first floor from the street. It has three entrances, one door opening into the parlor. This door the janitor forced. A gas jet was still burning. Everything in the room was in disorder, as though one had ransacked the rooms, getting together a few belongings for a hasty departure.

There were no evidences of crime in the parlor, and after a cursory glance around the detectives went through the library, the bathroom, the kitchen and into the bedrooms. In the rear room they found blood stains on the walls, on the bed clothing and in the sink.

Mrs. Pulitzer was undoubtedly murdered in this room. Her assailant committed his series of blunders, for he had not even made an effort to remove the incriminating traces. In the rear parlor Mrs. Pulitzer's stockings were found, but a thorough search failed to reveal any other article of her clothing.

The bedroom where Mrs. Pulitzer met death contains in the way of furniture only a narrow folding bed, a chest of drawers, a round table and a chair. The bed was open, and on the upper end of the sheet were a number of blood stains in the form of a rude circle about as large as the space a woman's head would occupy. Built in the wall of the room is a large cupboard, and on the walls of this more blood stains were found.

The inside of the doors bore several large stains. A slouch hat corresponding to the one worn by Young when he hired the team was on a table, and in one corner of the cupboard was a bottle of chloral or "knockout drops." This led some of the police to believe that the woman was first drugged and then the knife wound and blows on the head administered.

Lawyer William S. Hart, who has been retained as counsel for Young, said that he had received the following cablegram from Young's father: "Paris.—Please give this to the newspapers and request publication: To William Hooper Young—I hear you are suspected of a heinous crime and being sought for. I advise you to surrender to the officers of the law, facing the charge like a man. I have engaged counsel for your defense. No one knowing you can believe you guilty. You owe it to yourself, your family and the religion you foretook to prove your innocence. If you take this course we will stand by you. "JOHN W. YOUNG."

Son of a Wealthy Mormon. Salt Lake, Utah.—William Hooper Young, the alleged murderer of Mrs. Pulitzer in New York City, is the son of John W. Young, a son of the late Brigham Young. John W. Young is a well known wealthy railroad contractor. At the time of Brigham Young's death, in 1877, he was one of the former's councillors. He was tried under the Edmunds law, charged with polygamy, but was acquitted on a technicality. Friends and relatives of William Hooper Young say that the young man had always been considered weak minded, and on several occasions had shown signs of dementia. Lately, it is stated, he had been addicted to the use of morphine. Young left Salt Lake City about 1893, but has been back several times.

PREACHER'S DRAMATIC FAREWELL. Quits Church and Church After Accusing Wife of "Nagging" Him Into Ill Health.

Keokuk, Iowa.—The case of the Rev. P. J. Hennessy before the Iowa Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church came dramatically to an end. After the trial committee had been in session four into the night Mr. Hennessy took the stand.

He said it was evident he was not to have a fair trial, and handed the parchments of his ordination to the committee, following with his resignation from membership in the church, as well as from the ministry. Turning to his wife, who was present, the self-unfringed minister exclaimed: "Woman, behold the wreck of a man you have made." His wife broke down at this dramatic exhibition.

Mr. Hennessy said the reason he left his wife was because of her continual "nagging," which broke down his health and made it impossible for him to do church work. The charge against him was his separation from his wife, whom he agreed to support, but refused to live with. No question of immorality was involved.

PEARY MAKES A NEW MARK

He Advances Nearer to the North Pole Than Ever Before.

THINKS GOAL CAN BE REACHED

The Most Northern Point Reached Was 84 Degrees, 17 Minutes—It May Be the Explorer's Last Trip—Brings Home Numerous Odd Things—Promoted to the Rank of Commander—Health Good.

Sydney, Cape Breton.—After being forced to turn back from a point fifty miles nearer the Pole than ever before reached by an American explorer, Lieutenant Robert E. Peary arrived here on the Arctic Club steamer Windward.

The most northern spot Lieutenant Peary reached was eighty-four degrees, seventeen minutes, or within 343 miles of the Pole. Two foreign explorers have advanced further than this. Nansen reaching latitude 86.14 and the Abuzzi expedition, 86.33. On Peary's previous journey he reached latitude 83.27.

The Lieutenant was well, though his Eskimos had suffered severely and many died from a native epidemic. Mrs. Peary and her daughter, who had gone to meet him on the Windward, were well, though Mrs. Peary had been ill.

Dr. Diedrick also was with the party, having rejoined it at Etah after his quarrel with Peary. The two men did not speak to each other on the trip, and Dr. Diedrick said their differences had not been settled.

The Windward has discharged one of the most interesting cargoes that has ever been landed at this port. Eskimo caribou, sledges and implements of all kinds, a musk-ox, a walrus, ten of the dogs which dragged Peary's sledges over many a weary mile of ice, and a hundred other curios, large and small, have been loaded on freight cars.

Peary, who received the news of his promotion from the rank of Lieutenant to that of Commander upon landing, was kept busy most of the day receiving and answering telegrams and granting interviews to newspaper men. Lieutenant Peary says that while he did not discover the North Pole on his trip of four years, he feels certain that the Pole can be reached, and furthermore, that if he were a man of independent means he would persevere until he succeeded. He says the Pole can be reached from Franz Josef Land and from Grant Land, in latitude eighty-three degrees, if the winter quarters are established as far north as possible. He says that he would just as soon winter at Cape Hecla as at Sabine or Etah.

There is nothing whatever, the explorer says, in the old popular notion of an open polar sea, nor is there any foundation for the claim that the pole is surrounded by an immovable sea of ice. The water of the polar region is covered with shifting masses of ice.

The citizens of Sydney gave a public reception for Lieutenant Peary in Alexandra Hall. Mayor Crow presided and presented to Peary an eloquent address commendatory of his work, to which the explorer made a brief but effective response.

Lieutenant Peary's report to the Peary Arctic Club of the operations of the expedition since August 9, 1901, has been made public. It is signed by himself and addressed to Secretary H. L. Bridgman, of the Peary Arctic Club. Lieutenant Peary has received an invitation from the Scottish Geographical Society to visit Edinburgh and receive a gold medal, its highest honor. He has also been elected an honorary Fellow of the National Geographic Society, whose headquarters are in Washington, D. C.

Brigham Young's Grandson a Murderer. The body of a murdered young woman, afterward identified as Mrs. Joseph Pulitzer, the wife of a tailor in New York City, was found in the Morris Canal between Jersey City and Newark, N. J. The body was mutilated and a twenty-pound weight was tied around the waist. The murderer evidently was ignorant of the changes of tide in the canal, as the body was thrown in at high water and was left exposed when the water ran out. The woman's husband, who had reported his wife as missing to the New York police, identified the body.

A search for clues began, and Captain Titus, Chief of the New York Detective Bureau, announced later that Mrs. Pulitzer was murdered by William Hooper Young, a grandson of the famous Mormon leader. The murder, it was stated, was committed in the apartment of Young's father in New York City. Young, it was believed, had fled to Chicago, but it was thought that his arrest was imminent.

President Starts on Western Trip. President Roosevelt, accompanied by his party and Mrs. Roosevelt and the Misses Roosevelt, left Oyster Bay, L. I., on the steam yacht Sylph for his Western trip. The President boarded a special train in the Pennsylvania station in Jersey City. A car was reserved for Secretaries Shaw, Moody and Wilson, who also accompany the Presidential party. Mrs. Roosevelt and her daughters returned to Oyster Bay. A brief stop was made at Harrisburg, Pa., and another at Altoona, where the President received a hearty welcome. When the train reached Trenton Senator Quay boarded it and was in close conference with President Roosevelt, and the coal strike and the situation in Pennsylvania were the subjects discussed. Senator Quay later left the train to go to Philadelphia.

NERVOUS PROSTRATION IS SYSTEMIC CATARRH.

A LEADING CLUBWOMAN OF DENVER, CO.

Mrs. Ida L. Gregory, President of the Poets' and Authors' Club of Colorado, President of Colorado Art Club, Director of School of Industry and Design, Vice-President of Sherman Art League, is One of the Leading Club Women of Colorado.

In a recent letter from 2 Grant avenue, Denver, Colo., this prominent lady says:

"Some years ago my husband suffered from nervous prostration and, advising with a friendly druggist, he brought home a bottle of Peruna. His health was restored from its use. His appetite was increased and a restful sleep came to him. I therefore heartily endorse Peruna as an honest remedy worthy the good things which are said of it."—Ida L. Gregory.

Nervous prostration is so frequently associated with systemic catarrh that some doctors do not distinguish between the two. In systemic catarrh the disease has pervaded the whole system and there is a constant loss of vital fluids from the mucous membranes.

A great many people are doctoring for nervous prostration who would be immediately cured by a course of Peruna. Peruna makes clean, healthy mucous membranes. By this preservation of the fluids the weakening strain of their discharge is prevented. The medical profession is just beginning to awaken to the fact that chronic catarrh, especially systemic catarrh, will soon produce a condition so nearly resembling nervous prostration that it is very difficult to tell one from the other.

Peruna cures these cases without fail.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case, and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

ROOSEVELT IN DETROIT

President's Address at Ronnion of Spanish War Veterans.

DEFENDS PHILIPPINE ARMY.

Declines That He Has No Apology to Make For the War Against Spain and Against the Filipinos.

Detroit, Sept. 22.—In his address to the Spanish war veterans, who are holding their third annual reunion here, President Roosevelt spoke of the late war and said that the only complaint heard was that there was not enough war to go around. The spirit that drove the men on in this war was the same spirit that made the memorable meeting of Lee and Grant at Appomattox possible.

One of the first lessons all had to learn was that there was an enormous amount of hard work that preceded any chance for heroism. The amount of hard work a man did had a great deal to do with his attaining heroism. If a man has not the stuff to endure hardship on the march, the president said, he has not the stuff in him to attain heroism.

The president said the spirit he wanted to see in a man was that spirit which makes him do his duty, great or small. He liked particularly the ways in which our young men went into the ranks to do their duty as they saw it. He thought it a good thing that men of different callings should be associated together to learn the lesson of equality and brotherhood among Americans.

Plan For State Militia.
The president told of the needs of the state militia for better weapons and said he hoped in the future to see them armed with up to date guns. In conclusion the president said:

"And so it is now. Our people went forth in the Spanish war, went forth to free Cuba, to give Porto Rico a happiness it has never had and to bring the light of civilization into the dark places in the Philippines. We are proud of the men who did that work. We intend that their work shall be done beneficently and for a good purpose. Through the advice and the help of the civil and religious teachers of civilization among our people and in the islands we are going to get the best results for the people of the islands and of what has been done.

"We are going to make them more prosperous than they have ever dreamed of being during their recorded history, and now we guarantee to each man his life, his liberty and his pursuit of happiness as he never could have had it if he had been under the domination of a cruel oligarchy working through the society of Katipunan.

The Army in the Philippines.
"I don't make any apology for our soldiers on the score of good citizenship and don't make any apologies for the Spanish war or the war in the Philippines. There have been occasional deeds of wrong committed. There were 70,000 men there, and some of them did not behave as they ought. Have we all always been immaculate at home? If a man does wrong, punish him, of course, but don't make the mistake of fixing the eye on the unimportant and losing sight of the great blaze.

"We have no apologies to make for what the country has done in the past four years. We are proud of it. We are proud of the great work for humanity and civilization that has been done alike in the islands of the tropic east and in the islands of the tropic west. We are proud of what our troops have done. We are proud of what our civil authorities are doing over there in the Philippines, and we are proud of you, my comrades, who did your duty when the country called you to arms, who imitated those who from 1891 to 1893 did their duty and who now are imitating the men who disbanded in 1895 by coming back into civil life with the firm resolve to do their duty as citizens just as faithfully as ever they did it as soldiers. I thank you."

After the convention adjourned the president and party drove to the steamer Tashmo, which was boarded for a ride on the river. In addition to the presidential party there were several hundred delegates to the reunion aboard the steamer. The Tashmo returned with the party just in time for the president to review the big parade of veterans and local military.

YOUNG HUNTED DOWN

Alleged Slayer of Mrs. Pulitzer Is Caught at Dorby.

TELLTALE CLEWS IN TRUNK

Detectives Find Blood Stained Garments and Other Property of the Murdered Woman—Slayer's Knife Discovered Also.

New York, Sept. 22.—According to a dispatch from Dorby, Conn., a man arrested there has been positively identified as William Hooper Young, the alleged murderer of Mrs. Anna Pulitzer in New York, whose body was found last week in the Morris canal in New Jersey. The identification was made by Gustave A. Ernest of Brooklyn, who knows Young.

The trunk that was sent to Chicago by Young arrived in Jersey City early in the day and was taken to police headquarters at once by Detectives Duggan and Kinsella of Captain Titus' staff. It was opened in the presence of the captain and Assistant District Attorney Garvan. The trunk, which is not large, was jammed tightly with every imaginable article of male and female dress, torn and blood clotted, and seemed, according to the detectives and Mr. Garvan, to furnish every possible evidence to connect Hooper Young further with the murder.

The trunk is an original leather, wood and steel frame affair. One of the first things it yielded was the knife which evidently ended Mrs. Pulitzer's life. It was a dirk, about one foot long, with a white imitation ivory handle, covered with imitation Japanese carving. Both the handle and blade were blood stained.

Next the police unearthed in the trunk what they had supposed were still in this city, the clothes from the bed on which Mrs. Pulitzer fell or was placed after she was struck down in the Clarence apartment house.

Another Important Find.
Another important find was the cakes which Mrs. Pulitzer left her rooms on Tuesday night to buy. A number of them, probably all she had purchased, were still crumpled in the paper bag that they had been put into at the bakery. They were what are known as "drop cakes" and sell six for five cents.

The variety of the clothing in the trunk was almost indescribable. Every conceivable article of female attire was found there. Two crush opera hats were in the trunk, together with a number of boots, shoes and slippers and a pair of men's trousers, which were still well water soaked, showing that the murderer had tried to wash away signs of his deed from them, for they were yet blood stained. The trunk gave up, in finale, the woman's false teeth.

District Attorney Garvan, after looking over the contents of the blood stained trunk, announced that he would take charge of three or four of the articles found at once, as they were of exceptional value as evidence. He would not tell what these articles were. Both he and the detectives said that every piece of evidence that might be expected to be in the trunk was found there. No one seemed able to account for an immense quantity of rope and twine which was tangled up with the torn and shredded underclothing and broken toilet articles. On a piece of wrapping paper was written, "I. Solomon, 305 First street, Hobeoken, Out-fitter." An evening newspaper of Sept. 10 was also in the trunk.

Showmen Die in Collision.
Oklahoma City, Okla., Sept. 21.—At Choctaw, sixteen miles east of here, an eastbound freight train ran into the rear end of the Sells-Downs show train, killing three persons and wounding twenty-six others, several fatally. All of the killed and wounded belonged to the show except the conductor of the show train, who was fatally injured.

War Department Clerk a Suicide.
Washington, Sept. 20.—Captain W. B. Johnson, aged seventy years, a clerk in the war department, has committed suicide by cutting his throat and wrist with a razor. The act is attributed to ill health and fear of a paralytic stroke. He served during the civil war in an Ohio regiment.

Killed by Headache Tablets.
Hinghamton, N. Y., Sept. 20.—Miss Marie Lewis, aged nineteen, is dead from an overdose of headache tablets. She had been taking the tablets freely, some days taking ten or fifteen.
