EDITORIAL NOTES

People who are rejoicing at the mildness of the winter will be bowing the east of us next summer.
The army will not be prevented of the late of Panama. Spanish should be trump.

One of the developing industries of the United States is the manufacture of antique furniture for export to Europe.
The first installments of the "Mancini, Miss Riverside's Writing Copy" have already been published but the serial will not yet for several months.

The army ministers have a championship representation of West Virginia, who would put them on the pension list. The army will be the next to lay for recognition in the Pension Office.

Mr. Henry Irving has left out of his modest fortune a simple annuity for his wife. It is safe to say that there is now at least one man who is a hero with his wife.

Up to January 16 the Congressional Record contained 2,301 columns of speeches made so far by Congressmen, but it has to record but one important bill passed.

The fugitive President Morales is said to be a poor man and that he will have to work for his living. To have been President of any of these small republics and still be poor is about the best thing that can be said of a man.

Secretary Root insists that consular officers should not be appointed to estimable and elderly gentlemen whose Senatorial friends find it necessary to take care of them in some way, but the Senate has stricken from the Consular bill the clause which makes it necessary for the consul to know the language of the country to which he is accredited.

Jacob Ris is authority for the statement that the President will run for a third term if Congress fails to put into law the economic and improvement for which he has contended. Having urged Congress without success, he is said, progress to hold on until the people who gave him and what he stands for the largest majority a president ever received, can elect a Congress in harmony with a truly national economic policy.

Monday Begins Early
Sunday to Hellsgard begins on Saturday at six p. m. when the church bell is tolled, and continues till the same hour on Sunday. Formerly no vessel could leave port between these hours.

Easy for Fat
An Irishman was sitting in an inn in County Mayo one day, while it was raining furiously without. A nobleman's butler came in at the door of the hostelry. Released on the parole of his doors were the arms of his owner, inscribed with the motto, "Pride repeat ubique." "Pat," asked some one of the Irishman, "how do you translate that?" "Easy for fat," replied the Irishman. "Pride repeat ubique—Pat!" it raises eyebrows.

Japan's War Spirit
The Japanese War spirit, the Kobo-mite competing the Japanese with foreign soldiers, says: "They are brought up to the idea that it is their common duty to serve with the colors and die in the defense of their country in case of emergency, so that they can rise to their valor and fidelity above those of other countries, who either make fighting the carnage of their cause or follow it as mercenaries. England is not getting to Japan in the matter of this principle."

Candidate's Card
Appealing of ingenious means of self advertising by candidates for political preferment, Champ Clark, the Missouri congressman once told the following: "There was a candidate for the office of recorder in a certain town of Indiana—Law Shank by name—who inserted a card in the newspapers throughout the town. 'Wanted—Fifteen thousand girls to blow their sweethearts and ask them to vote for Law Shank for recorder!'"

Four Quail.
Why the poor consular of southern Nigeria? They are in such hard straits for food that some of them not long ago, according to a Liverpool dispatch, killed and ate an English doctor of the name of Stewart, who was 47 years old. Only extraction of bugs could have driven them to eat a doctor, an English doctor, aged 47.—Havoc News

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral
Always keep a bottle of it in the house. We have been saying this for 60 years, and so have the doctors.

HOW MEXICO IS LEARNING.

School Teachers Sent to the United States to Acquire the English Language

The study of English is compulsory in the Mexican public schools. Every year Mexico sends to the United States a number of school teachers to study American pedagogic methods, says the Review of Reviews. A great many Mexican children are being educated in the schools and colleges of this country, where formerly they were sent to Europe. The number of Mexican visitors to the United States and the number of American visitors to Mexico is increasing every year. It is said that Yucatecans know New York better than the City of Mexico, and that western Mexicans are more at home in San Francisco than in their own capital city. This year the American embassy at Mexico is taking a deeper hold on the Mexican people.

The vice president of Mexico and announced successor of President Diaz is very much Americanized in his ideas. In fact, he might easily be mistaken for a plain, shrewd American business man from his appearance, manner and methods. He has always been exceedingly friendly to the Americans. As governor of the state of Sonora, he encouraged them to invest their capital in his state and to settle there. He opened a school in Sonora for their sons, property and civil rights were protected. He is well informed about the United States, and is a student of English. He has three daughters in school at San Francisco, and is educating all of his children in the United States.

PRIVATE CLIPPING BUREAUS

Novel Scheme by Which Young Men Torture Their Girl Friends

Of course the girls don't like it. You can't blame them, says the Philadelphia Record. It originated with the idea of keeping track of their ages and has been tried in Philadelphia. While it seems quite innocent and harmless, it is the most exquisite form of torture ever devised by a masculine mind.

Here is the receipt. When the girls of your acquaintance appear among the files of debauchees in the society columns of the paper—for in course they do so appear—keep all the notices of their various appearances, pictures, and so forth. A scrap-book with all the social achievements of your girl friends is very pretty to look at and quite pleasing to the girls themselves the first year they are out, but by second and third year it is not so agreeable.

One young man who seems to be an inveterate slave of this private clipping bureau habit, brings down the recollections of his feminine friends upon his head, when he goes visiting, by saying: "Let me see, how old is Mabel getting to be now? Oh, yes," then he turns jauntily over the pages of his little scrap-book and counts back by clippings. It is the most wonderful thing in the world that this novel scrap-book has not long ago been consigned to the black list by his girl friends.

DAMAGE DONE BY PESTS.

Insect Enemies of American Crops Destroyed Many Millions of Dollars' Worth

Statisticians say that the cloch bug annually destroys crops valued at $60,000,000; that the grasshopper eats up $40,000,000 worth; the New York silkworm, the cotton root worm, the corn ear worm, the cotton boll worm and the roddling moth of apple each $20,000,000; the army worm $15,000,000; the cutworm leaf worm and the potato worm $5,000,000. This makes a total of $298,000,000 worth of products that might have been expected to, but never do, get into the market, because of the ravages of these most numerous insects. And this is but the only loss charged to their account. Shortage of crops affects various industries in increased prices, and a deal of money is spent in fighting the pests. Taking into account all these things, the annual loss in this country from insect pests, distributed among the various products, is estimated as follows: Cereal, $200,000,000; animal products, $175,000,000; forest and forest products, $111,000,000; truck crops and hay and forage, $44,000,000; cotton, $60,000,000; fruits, $27,000,000; tobacco, $8,300,000; sugar, $8,000,000; miscellaneous crops, $6,800,000; and products in storage, $100,000,000, making a total of $785,000,000.

Name Coincidence

Of coincidences in names a correspondent of a London paper instances the following examples. There was a household in Clifton in which there were to domestic service Mrs. Pidgeon (maiden name Partridge), lady's maid and Mrs. Hawke (baroness). But that is trifling compared to the case of the old chapel at Beverham where the Rev. H. J. Hunt used to officiate. Hawke and Cuckoo were the names of the deacons in his time. Mrs. Partridge was the church singer. Mr. Lamb, Mrs. Cuckoo and Mrs. Nightingale were members of the congregation, and the chapel was, and is, situated in Partridge lane.

Not On Speaking Terms

"Are you at all familiar with Plato?" asked Mrs. Oldcastle. "No, that's one thing I just always blame you for. He says I never make real close friends with anybody," she dray blurted.

Not to Forget It

"Don't forget it," blurted out—Come to my room at 11 o'clock and I'll give you the amount of brushing you ever had!" "Why (she suffers from a weak memory)—Yes, sir! I'll be a boot to my goodberchiel!"—Punch

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one reliable cure for that scourge, the "dyspepsia" that science has been unable to cure in all its stages, and that it is a cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a chronic disease, requires a constant treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the cause of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Common Colds are the Cause of Many Serious Diseases

Persons who have gained a national reputation as analysts of the cause of various diseases, claim that if caught early could be avoided a long list of dangerous ailments would never befall them. Very few know that pneumonia and consumption originate from a cold and chronic catarrh, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles are aggravated and rendered more serious by each fresh attack. Do not risk your life by taking chances when you have a cold. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure it before these diseases develop. This remedy contains no opium, morphine or other harmful drug and has thirty years of reputation back of it, gained by its curative power in every condition. For sale by Jas. E. Robinson.

DOWNERVILLE

By—All is well as common except the regular routine of noise and tumult of life we have still got beautiful weather and no particular signs of winter but a good time to work in the woods and to get ready to make sugar and a good time to turn out on a surprise and not long since the people of Russell were cut short of a good street parade by hanging to their beds one bright cold morning and my advice is rise early then you can take in all that is to be seen so be on the lookout and you will see the sights and wonders as well as the patent rights and patent blunders. Mrs. H. K. Dismann will soon return from the City to enjoy farm life and be at home with us all. Asa Allen is quite helpless as he don't seem to have any use of his limbs otherwise he seems to be on the gain one thing more in if I was to go to Hermon Mine and had to live on but I should want good teeth or I should soon have to get out. The best way to get the news of what is doing in your neighborhood is to take the home paper and it that won't do you can hitch up and take a drive and you will get news lots of it and do not be afraid of getting too much to put on to the press don't mind the track news a double track will do it even a single track is better than not any thing more. If the teacher is what you expect of the school or if you have to give way to a hunk of what will become of your poultry.

Three Form of Eye Trouble

Are commonly met with—any one of which may have existed from birth. Nature does not always make perfect eyes. We have near-sightedness, far-sightedness and astigmatism, which is a defect of the regular sight. All of these defects require attention. If a child has any of these ocular defects and is not allowed to do close work of any kind he may have his eyes carefully examined and wear such glasses as will correct the refraction of his eyes. As we expect a child to be born with one leg shorter than the other, to walk with a limp, as to ask one born with imperfect eyes to do accurate eye work without suffering the consequences. Pifty years ago the landlord of the hotel at Kingston Plains, N. H., was a man by the name of Hoyt.

One afternoon relates the Boston Herald a prosperous looking stranger, with a fine equipage, drove up and stopped for the night.

The stranger paid the bill without a murmur, complimented the landlord on the excellence of his hospitality, asked (he had any good cigars, invited him to join him in a smoke at his expense, and remarked that when he came that way again he should certainly stop with him.

As he turned away the landlord looked after him until he passed from view with a face in which the emotions of regret and elation were strongly depicted.

"What a fine fellow," he said to himself. "I wish I could have a word with him."

"You're a sort of life preserver," said the tailor, speaking of his wares. "I'm a Russian and my non-live-wire clothes are the invention of a Russian."

NATIONALITY ESTABLISHED.

"Mim" Was No Dingo Because He Had Some Uncle Who Was "Cops"

There might be room for argument over the proposition that the trade of a professional makes the man, but in certain cases there could be no doubt about the relation of calling and character.

A worker among the children of New York's slums was endeavoring to get together a class of boys for the singing teacher at his settlement.

Happening upon a little boy banging about a corner fruit stand, the settlement worker arrested him and explaining about the class asked him if he would not like to join.

"Ob, and your little friend there," she said, pleasantly, "wouldn't it be like to come and sing, too?"

The first child's mirroring spoke indignantly of Italy, although his speech was marked by the Bowery.

"Your friend is Italian, too?" she remarked, interrogatively.

"Mim," he exclaimed, pointing to the smaller child, "him a dog?" Then with a derisive laugh "I guess all! My him's got three uncles who's cops!"

SHE OWNED A PIANO. But Possession of It Did Not Weigh Against Her Chances for Relief.

A little girl at a recent Christmas entertainment in one of the college settlements talked glibly in valedictory about "our plan."

"The non-live-wire suits are made of closely woven metal band fibers, and their lined with non-conducting linen paper and make a part of the same."

"Do you ever have call for suits from other than electricians?"

"Yes, I make them for ministers and cranks, and I have three customers who wear non-live-wire overalls back and forth to jobs."

ACRICULTURE IN CHILI. Endowment of That Country Expects Installation of American Methods.

The government of Chili maintains several agricultural stations in which the French method of farming is taught by instructors from that country.

"Light began to dawn on the settlement worker's brain."

"Oh, no mine is a forty twenty bit of a one just about so high, and the little girl leaped down and measured a distance of 12 or 15 inches from the floor."
